RACE PROBLEM WILL BE SOLVED BY RICH SOUTH

President Taft Says the Solution Lies in Prosperity of Dixie.

"AM DELIGHTED TO HAVE FIFTEEN-CENT COTTON"

Prominent Educators and Philanthropists of Washington Interested in Education in the South Hear Instructive Address on the Subject--Thomas Nelson Page Presides.

Washington, February 18.—In the prosperity of the south lies the solution of the race problem, in the opinion of President Taft, who participated tonight in a conference of educators and philanthropically disposed men and women of Washington on education in the south, at the residence of Miss Mabel T. Boardman.

"There are two things working toward the solution of the negro problem," said the president. "One is the development of interest among the better class of southerners in the education of the negro, and a consciousness of the fact that nothing will so much help the south as such education. The other important feature is the increase of the wealth of the south.

South Is Getting Richer.

"The south, until the last decade, had a dreadfully hard time to support the government of her states without education, but now the south is getting richer. I am delighted to have 15-cent cotton, whether it be high or not, because it means the prosperity of the south, the development of her educational system, and the working out of the most difficult problem ever presented to a people."

Thomas Nelson Page presided at the conference. Among the other speakers were James H. Dillard, of New Orleans, president of the Jeanes fund; W. W. Finley, president of the Southern Railway, and Dr. H. B. Frissell, president of Hampton institute.

James H. Dillard, in his address, declared that the white people must blame themselves for conditions prevailing in the south, and described a natural segregation of the races that is developing with the development of industrial education. Industrial education he urged for the benefit of the negro, and the poor white people as well.

Refrain From Ill Feeling.

"The first thing we can do," he said, "for the negroes' good is to refrain from ill feeling and to be willing that the race should be hopeful of progress and improvement. In other words, we should have the attitude of good will, and not the attitude of ill will.

"The second thing we can do is to assist in the education of the negro, and by education, I mean a real education, an education for living, an education that leads to the knowledge of how to do things better and how to live better."

SAILORS SAVED IN HARD FIGHT

Life-Saving Crew Does Splendid Work.

Cape Charles City, Va., February 18. The British sailing ship Norwood, bound from Buenos Ayres for Boston, was blown ashore on Ship Shoal Lumps during the night and, after a hard battle with heavy seas, her crew of eleven men were saved by Captain John R. Andrew and the life-saving crew of the Cobb Island life-saving station.

Distress signals were observed during the night by the beach patrol and by daylight the lifesavers were on their way to the assistance of the crew. A terrific sea was on, and the wind was blowing a whole gale, but the life-savings succeeded in reaching the stranded Norwood and rescuing her crew. Great difficulty was experienced by the lifesavers in their work.

The Norwood, commanded by Captain Howe, sailed from Buenos Ayres November 1, bound to Boston. She put in at Barbadoes December 11, and sailed again four days later. She encountered heavy weather before clearing the Caribbean, and was partially dismasted, having been spoken in that condition February 3.

The vessel lies in a dangerous position, and may become a total loss. The Norwood is of 1,597 tons net.

Ship Shoal Lumps are located about 10 miles north of Cape Charles, at the entrance to the Chesapeake, and near the place where the ill-fated United States navy tug Nina was last sighted on February 6.

Nationals in Spring Training.

St. Louis, February 18.—Twelve members of the New York Nationals who met here departed tonight for Marlin Springs, Texas, for their spring training.

BOSS SHOT DOWN AT CHERRY MINE

While Surrounded by Widows and Orphans.

Because He Was Refused Job, Miner Shoots Boss Who Was Superintending Removal of Bodies of Victims of the Fatal Fire of November 13.

Cherry, Ill., February 18.—An attempt to assassinate one of the St. Paul Coal Company's bosses added to the tragedy of Cherry mine's disaster today.

A dismissed employee, stepping up behind Charles Atherton, known as the top boss, whipped out a revolver and crying "to pay you back," fired three shots. Atherton fell, probably fatally wounded.

The shooting occurred in the midst of the work of recovering the 177 bodies which have been entombed in the mine since the fatal fire of November 13. Eleven bodies had been brought up.

Working to Get Bodies Out.

Atherton was standing at his post at the mouth of the shaft, and was working heroically to get the bodies out. About him stood a circle of widows and orphans, all eager to learn whether the next lift of the hoist was bringing up their dead.

Suddenly the shots were fired in rapid succession, and a man dashed wildly from the crowd. In the confusion few knew what had happened.

W. W. Taylor, of Chicago, general superintendent of the St. Paul Coal Company's mines, had just gone down the shaft. His name was whispered about. But a moment later Atherton was found lying on the ground.

Already a hundred enraged miners, headed by Sheriff Skeglund, tore down the railroad tracks after the would-be assassin, while the crowd behind shouted "lynch him; shoot him."

Fugitive Is Captured.

Finally the fugitive was captured on the main street of the town, the revolver still in his hand. He gave his name as Peter Brown, but was later identified as Melas Manditch, a dismissed employee. He said he did the shooting because he had been refused a job, and he had been looking for James Steele, superintendent of the company's mine here and at Granville, Ill. Later a mob surrounded the jail, and tonight the prisoner was taken to Princeton, Ill., for safety.

Atherton came here from Granville. There he has a wife and family. He was taken to the hospital at Lafalle, Ill., where it was said his condition was critical, and he probably would not recover.

GRAIN MEN FIGHT FOR EXCHANGES

System of Hedging Defended by Messmore.

Washington, February 18.—A touch of politics was injected into today's hearing before the house committee on agriculture, when representatives of the grain marts of the country were presenting the opposition to the pending bills to abolish trading in futures on the exchanges and boards of trade. Former President Fitch, of the Chicago board of trade, insisted that the grain producer is the "best fixed" of any one party to the whole question of grain transactions, and that the burden of risk and loss had not been on the producer at any time during the past twenty years. "I say," he added, "the producer is the best fixed at the present time, because money is rolling into the land"—

"We Won't Go Into That."

"We won't go into that," interjected Chairman Scott, with a smile, and he rapped for order as the crowd laughed.

"In what way would you be obliged to readjust your business in case future transactions were abolished?" asked the chairman.

"There would be chaos in business circles of the country, in every business pertaining to grain—absolute chaos," replied Mr. Fitch. "If the Scott bill became a law it would disturb something that has taken sixty years to get it where it is. I would have to do business on a wider margin—I would have to reconstruct every financial interest I've got in the west. The chaos would stretch all the way from the farmer to the exporter."

Mr. Fitch prophesied that the day soon would come when the grain interests will be in Washington to argue that unless congress wants the country to go hungry, it will have to "take that duty off Canadian wheat."

Defends Hedging System.

John L. Messmore, of St. Louis, defended the hedging system. He said the trading in futures as a hedge against off-grades, such as those inferior to No. 2, is a very large part of the business in the aggregate; that this large portion of the business could not be transacted if the Scott bill were enacted. Explaining this, he said it was because one could not then deliver No. 4 and No. 3 wheat on contract, one of which would be a hedge against the other to maintain parity. The full list of cities represented includes Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Minneapolis, Duluth, Milwaukee, Toledo, Buffalo, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore. The spokesmen discussed the function of the exchange, hedging operations, bucket-shops and their discountenancing by the exchanges, and the speculator and speculation on 'change.

Vice President J. C. F. Merrill, of the board of trade, directed the presentations of the views of the exchange interests.

MEAT PACKERS STAND ON EVE OF INDICTMENT

National Packing Company and Its Directors Must Face a Probe.

WILL CHARGE CONSPIRACY IN RESTRAINT OF TRADE

Report in New York Says That Officers Have Already Been Indicted---Prosecutor Garven, However, Says Action Has Not Yet Been Taken, But Will Be Soon.

New York, February 18.—Prosecutor Garven said tonight that, acting upon his recommendation, the Hudson county grand jury, of New Jersey, had instructed him to draw up the form of an indictment against the National Packing Company and its directors. The grand jury, he said, had positive evidence that food products have in some instances been kept in cold-storage for seven years.

It was stated here tonight with much positiveness that the National Packing Company had already been indicted.

Prosecutor Garven's statement, although technically a denial, forecasts such action in the near future, and it is understood that the indictment, when finally presented, will probably be for conspiracy in restraint of trade, as the court instructed the jury it might find in his charge.

Will Cover Every Detail.

For more than a fortnight the Hudson county grand jury has been investigating not only the preservation of foodstuffs, but the alleged affiliations of the railroads and the western packers with cold-storage houses in Jersey City. Any indictment found, Mr. Garvan said tonight, would be broad enough to cover every detail of the case in which he thought the chance of a conviction possible. In his belief the best proof of a conspiracy to restrain trade lay in the minutes of the National Packing Company, which he had in his possession and which had been to the grand jury. Under a provision of New Jersey law, the minutes of corporations chartered by the state are always available.

The testimony of chemists and biologists has already been heard by the grand jury and evidence has been laid before the state board of health on the one hand, while consultations have been held with Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief chemist of the United States government, on the other. Prosecutor Garven held a conference today in this city with District Attorney Whitman.

Big Men in Directorate.

In the directorate of the National Packing Company appear the names of many recognized heads of great packing interests. Apparently, said Mr. Garven, these companies were working independently, but he believed he had evidence to show that the directors of the National Packing Company had taken formal action to hold surplus supplies in storage until the market price should meet their own figures.

The directors are J. Ogden Armour, Edwin, Morris, E. F. Swift, E. M. Morris, Arthur Meeker, Edward Tilden, T. J. Connors, L. A. Carton, T. E. Wilson, C. H. Swift, L. H. Heyman, Samuel L. M. Roberts, F. A. Fowler, A. W. Armour, L. P. Swift and Kenneth K. McLaren.

It is understood that each one will be named specifically with the exception of Mr. McLaren, who is a resident of New Jersey, as required by law, and has no known active share in the management of the company.

DENIED STAGE LIFE, SHE SEEKS ANOTHER WORLD

Kansas City, Mo., February 18.—Miss Agnes Leslie Elkins, niece of United States Senator Stephen B. Elkins, of West Virginia, died at a hotel tonight of a bullet wound she inflicted on herself last Wednesday in attempting suicide.

Despondency over the refusal of relatives to consent to her becoming an actress is given by the young woman's friends as the cause for her suicide. She obtained a part in a play, but Senator Elkins is said to have influenced her to give it up.

Miss Elkins carefully planned her suicide. She gave a farewell party to her friends a few hours before she shot herself. She jested with them about a plan she had to kill herself. After dismissing her guests she wrote a note to the newspapers saying that she was tired of living.

The bullet passed into her body just below the heart. Physicians said it was not a dangerous wound. She rallied, and this morning expressed a desire to recover. A few hours later she suffered a relapse.

Miss Elkins was an orphan 26 years old. Her parents lived here several years. The girl was not prominent socially, but is said to have inherited a considerable sum from her father. Senator Elkins was executor of her father's estate.

Cook Admits Identity.

Santiago, Chile, February 18.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook today admitted his identity. He visited his old comrade, the Belgian engineer, Rysselberghe, and the two were together for some hours. The two men were members of the Belgian Antarctic expedition of 1897-98, and the latter recognized Cook when they were fellow passengers on the steamer from Valdivia. Until now, however, Cook had refused to recognize his former companion.

NEW YORK CAPITOL AND THE MEN WHO ARE INTERESTED IN GRAFT CHARGES

Not since the famous insurance investigation of 1905-6 has the political world of New York state been so stirred as it is by the present investigation into the Allds-Conger charges. The statement by Senator Conger, who accuses Senator Allds of receiving money to kill proposed legislation, that "there was a payment to the state chairman of the republican organization" in 1902, together with the statement of Governor Hughes made in New York in regard to the matter, helped in arousing popular interest. Speaking in New York, Governor Hughes, who as counsel for the Armstrong committee, conducted the insurance investigation, said: "This is not a time to retire in dismay from any disclosures. The party can stand anything except being untrue to itself and allying itself with the evil that may be in it. It needs to purge itself of evil. It needs to get rid of that which can be justly condemned." In 1902 the chairman of the republican state committee, accused by Senator Conger of receiving funds raised by the bridge companies to influence legislation, was Colonel George W. Dunn, of Binghamton. The picture shows the Albany capitol and Governor Hughes in a characteristic speaking attitude.

FIRE SUCKED INTO CAN MAKES ALCOHOL EXPLODE; C. C. HAY BADLY BURNED

C. C. Hay, aged 34, of 139 East Hunter street, employed at the Atlanta Store Light Company, lies seriously burned about the face and arms at Grady hospital, as the result of the sudden explosion of alcohol at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the company's place of business at 92 Edgewood avenue.

Hay attempted to pump alcohol from a small zinc cup into the lighted burner of a lamp generator, and the explosion came when the flame was drawn into the cup through the spout by reason of the creation of a vacuum.

Blinding Explosion Results.

There was a sudden and blinding explosion which nearly knocked Hay from his feet. The bottom of the small can blew out and he felt the full force of the explosion in his face, particles of the zinc cutting the flesh. The burning liquid flew over his coat and he was soon in a mass if flames. He threw his hands to his mouth in an attempt to prevent inhalation of the flames, and both hands were terribly burned.

The noise attracted the other employees in the place and they rushed to Hay's assistance. The flames were quickly smothered and the injured man was hurried to the operating table of Grady hospital in the ambulance, which responded to an emergency call to the scene.

Hay, who has just recently accepted employment with the Atlanta Store Light Company, had been warned the night before, it is said, of the danger of pouring alcohol into the burner of the generator after lighting it.

The generator is located in the rear of the store, and furnishes the gas used for lighting the patented display lamps in the store of the same brand sold in the company's business.

Assigned to Light Generator.

Hay had been assigned to light the gas generator toward dark, and as the flame he had applied to the burner was acting sluggishly, he decided to stimulate it with a small quantity of alcohol.

Stooping over the blaze and holding the small zinc cup inverted a few inches above, he pressed the bottom of the can and a stream of alcohol shot out upon the low fire. The vacuum did the rest.

Hay's face, hands and arms were terribly burned, and it will be several weeks before he will be well enough to leave the hospital, according to the statement of the attending physicians. While his injuries are not thought to be fatal, they are of a serious nature because of possibility of complications setting in.

ROOSEVELT WITHOUT GUILE; HIS POLICIES WERE DICTATED BY HIS LOVE OF COUNTRY

—Andrew Carnegie

Los Angeles, February 18.—Andrew Carnegie passed through Los Angeles from the east today on his way to Santa Barbara. Accompanying the philanthropist were his wife, his daughter, Margaret, and Charles R. Taylor, of Pittsburg. Mr. Carnegie talked with a representative of the Associated Press on political conditions, on the high cost of living and on trusts.

"Roosevelt is one of the great men in the world," he said. "I admire him intensely. I am going to London to meet him on May 15—want to be among the first to clasp his hand on his return from Africa.

Roosevelt Without Guile.

"Roosevelt is not only a statesman of rare wisdom, but he is absolutely without guile. His policies were dictated by an unselfish love of country and by the nation's needs. Present conditions in this country testify to his foresight."

Mr. Carnegie commended the former president's attitude toward trusts.

"Taft is following out the Roosevelt policies," he said. "Taft is of a different disposition and does all things in a different way, but Roosevelt knew when he chose Taft as his successor that the latter could be relied upon to pursue the same political course as himself.

"Taft's policy with relation to a court of commerce is correct. If commerce is to be regulated—and it must be—there should be a separate and high tribunal to pass final judgment on the findings of the lower courts."

Price of Necessities High.

"And the price of meat and other necessities of life?"

"Oh, there's no doubt they're high. Old man Wilson, the secretary of agriculture, has shown that the farmers are not getting their share of the profits. Now the middleman, the commission man and the retailer is aping the bigger man—the corporation—and cutting out competition. That's the whole thing: it is lack of competition to a large degree.

"Of course, we live too high. We all want the best cut of meat, where we formerly we didn't. We all want to wear real wool, and many of us have a yearning for silk hosiery. We are simply living on too expensive a scale."

Dr. Hillis Is Called.

Pasadena, Cal., February 18.—According to an announcement made yesterday Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church in Brooklyn, will be extended a call to the Pasadena Presbyterian pulpit, left vacant by the resignation of Rev. Malcolm James McLeod who has taken the pulpit of the Collegiate Reform Presbyterian church of New York. Dr. Hillis, it is said, receives a salary of $15,000, and a similar salary or a larger one will be offered him here.

NEGRO AT CAIRO IS FOUND GUILTY

Given Heavy Sentence for Purse-Snatching.

Three Companies Guard the Jail and Quiet Reigns in City. Threats Are Being Made Against the Sheriff Who Defended His Prisoner.

Cairo, Ill., February 18.—With three companies of militia guarding the courthouse and jail, under direct supervision of Adjutant General Frank S. Dickson, of Springfield, this city settled down tonight to complete quiet after a strenuous 24 hours and the authorities believe they have the situation well in hand.

There are many scattered groups of men about the streets and in the vicinity of the jail, but no crowd is allowed to congregate.

Threats have been made against Sheriff Fred D. Nellis for the killing of Alexander Halliday early this morning by his deputies and the wounding of four others in beating back the mob that attempted to lynch a negro purse-snatcher, but the presence of the soldiers is having a salutary effect in preventing further demonstrations.

Three Companies on Hand.

A third company was asked for by the sheriff this afternoon and Company M, of Champaign, was ordered out, arriving here on a special train at 6:30 o'clock.

John Pratt, the negro the mob intended to lynch, and who was given an indeterminate sentence of not more than fourteen years in the Chester penitentiary on each of two charges of robbery, this afternoon, will be taken secretly to the prison at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning with twelve other convicted prisoners, in a special train. His removal, it is believed, will remove the last apprehension of another assault on the jail.

Lincoln Wilson, arrested as a suspected companion of Pratt, in the snatching of women's pocketbooks, was released tonight. The grand jury failed to return an indictment against him.

A searching investigation of the attack on the jail this morning, when Halliday was killed, was ordered this afternoon by Judge Butler, in a charge to the grand jury, immediately after the disposal of the cases of the two negroes. No action was taken this afternoon, but the affair will be taken up when the jury reconvenes tomorrow morning.

Judge Butler's instructions to the grand jury were in substance, a demand that the rioters be brought to justice, and made to stand trial for rioting, a felony.

There were six negros in the party of fourteen armed deputies that defended the jail with Nellis, he says. His party numbered about 20, but there were not guns enough to go around. Nellis had great difficulty in enlisting deputies and the negroes were impressed into service, he says, because he could not get enough white men to serve.

ZONE IS FIXED FOR THE SALE OF NEAR BEER

Police Committee of Council Reaches an Agreement at Last.

ZONE HAS TWO SECTIONS WITH THREE LONG SPURS

All the Present Saloons Are Included in Limits, but Many of the New Applicants Will Be Knocked Out --- Work of Fixing the Zone Occupied Several Months.

The near beer zone has been fixed at last. The work was done at a meeting of the police committee yesterday afternoon. There has never been a near beer zone in Atlanta before, the council committee on police having hitherto granted licenses wherever they thought proper. This gave a great deal of trouble and worry to the committee, to citizens and to the near beer sellers.

But now there is a zone. As the question has been a very warm one, some people are inclined to call it the "torrid zone." When members of the committee spoke of it as the "temperate zone," the joke was greatly appreciated. Perhaps the near beer dealers who were frozen out will call it the "frigid zone."

There were so many applications coming in every month for near beer licenses that the committee felt called upon to fix a zone. The work was started last year, and for four or five months the labor was arduous and unceasing. Whenever a limit was mentioned, somebody objected.

How the Zone Was Fixed.

But now the zone is fixed. It is composed of two sections and three spurs. The spurs were made to reach out on certain streets that could not be included in any given territory.

Here is the near beer zone as fixed by the committee:

First or Western Spur—Running out from the business center of the city on Marietta street to North avenue.

Second or Eastern Spur—Running out Decatur street from the business center to Cornelia street.

Third or Southwestern Spur—Running out Peters street from the business center to Fector's alley.

The rest of the zone is divided into two sections as follows:

First Section—Starting at the corner of Marietta and Magnolia streets, then going along Magnolia street to Mangum, then along Mangum to Hunter then along Hunter to Elliot, then along Elliot to Mitchell, then along Mitchell to Central avenue, then along Central avenue to Decatur street, then along Decatur street to Fort, where the second section begins.

Second Section of Zone.

Second Section—Starting at the corner of Decatur and Fort streets, then along Fort street to Edgewood avenue, then along Edgewood avenue to Pryor street, then along Pryor street to Ellis, then along Ellis street to Carnegie Way, then along Carnegie Way to Forsyth street, then along Forsyth street to Marietta, then along Marietta street to Magnolia, where the first section begins.

Near beer can be sold within all the territory bounded by the two sections.

At the end of the three spurs, the limits are to the center of the end streets. In other boundaries there can be saloons on both sides of the streets.

After the zone was adopted, all petitions not within the prescribed limits were turned down. It is understood that the zone takes in all the present saloons, but a large number of new ones will be left out.

Snow Ends School.

Columbus, Ohio, February 18.—The public schools at Marion were dismissed today, as practically none of the children were able to reach the buildings, there being 19 inches of snow in the streets. The $10,000 frame auditorium at Zanesville collapsed under the weight of snow. In central Ohio farming districts the stock is suffering from lack of water. The small streams were frozen up.

Damage Done by Wind.

Dawson, Ga., February 18.—(Special.) Heavy wind yesterday evening partly unroofed the electric light building and blew down the wall at Perry's warehouse.

MERCURY DIPS AND THEN RISES

That Is Weather Department's Prediction.

Temperature Will Be as Low as 10 Degrees Above Zero During the Early Hours of the Morning, but Will Rise Toward Noon.

While the mercury this morning will be found considerably below the 30-degree mark, the cold wave which hit Atlanta in a lump has passed and the mercury is scheduled to rise rapidly towards noon today. The cold snap left as suddenly as it came, having passed over northern Georgia while making a record trip from the mouth of the Mississippi river to northern

"THEY FIT AS SNUGLY AS DID HIS OWN."

Maine, the trip occupying a little less than twenty-four hours, which is going some even for the wind.

"Fair tonight and colder. Fair Saturday," is the way the official forecast read yesterday afternoon. The experts explained that the temperature early this morning would most probably be below this season's record, dropping possibly to 10 degrees above. This is some 12 degrees below the mercury's standing yesterday morning at 7 o'clock.

The falling barometer which was in evidence Thursday afternoon was evidence simply of the rain which fell during the day instead of the precipitation expected yesterday. The wind veered to the west, as was predicted, but blew with such force as to drive away the clouds. As a result yesterday dawned cloudless instead of under leaden skies, as was expected.

The cold wave was general throughout the south, with the exception of Florida, which is expected to get hers in smaller doses today. The drop in temperature along the northern and western gulf coast was the most rapid recorded in years. In less than twenty-four hours the mercury tumbled from 70 to 26 in New Orleans, and from 64 to 28 in Mobile.

The storm left the south early yesterday morning, going northeast into the New England states, where some extremely ugly weather is now in evidence.

The early hours yesterday were made more unpleasant by a strong westerly wind, which reached a velocity of 40 miles shortly after 9 o'clock, but gradually died out during the afternoon and night.

"It's queer how much a woman dislikes to think she has feet of even normal size," said the Gopher. "The shoe store clerk will tell you that nine women out of ten will ask for shoes two sizes too small for them.

"It reminds me of a young lady friend of mine. She is some above the average woman in size, and has feet no larger than they should be. Still she likes to think she can wear 'ones.' Recently a gentleman friend who was to impersonate a woman in an amateur theatrical, asked the lady's husband if his wife wouldn't lend him a pair of shoes to wear. The husband told his wife, and in spite of the fact that the fellow has the smallest feet you ever saw hung to a man, she was horrified. She told her husband to tell his friend that he couldn't get his toe in one of her shoes.

"The husband, like all husbands, forgot to deliver the message, and the friend called for the shoes. In spite of the lady's protests, he tried them on, and they fit as comfortably as did his own. And ever since, she's been wondering how it all happened, and if they were really her shoes."

WATERWAYS BILL IN SERIOUS DANGER

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, February 18.—(Special.)—The rivers and harbors bill is in serious danger and there is a probability, stronger than the friends of the measure are willing to concede, of its failing of passage in the senate at this session. The explanation given is the unsatisfactory condition of the national treasury.

With a large deficit staring the republicans in the face, the pruning knife has been applied in all executive departments by order of the president and appropriations committees are being urged to hold all expenditures down to the minimum limit. Senate leaders are asking if this bill cannot go over for another year.

The advisability of cutting the bill down from $42,000,000 to less than $5,000,000 was seriously discussed today in the senate committee on interstate commerce, before which committee the bill is pending.

Georgia was given $1,000,000 in this bill in the house, and the spirits of several Georgia representatives will be considerably depressed if any of their favorite projects are cut out or trimmed down. It will mean the delay of work of vast importance to the business interests of the state.

Dies at Age of 99.

Mobile, Ala., February 18.—A. Sidney Vail, who would have been 100 years old had he lived till next April, died here last night after three days' illness. He was a native of Canada, and lived at Momence, Ill., joining the lodge of Odd Fellows at that place in 1853, and had been prominent in Odd Fellow circles in that state for many years. The remains will be sent back there.

REV. J. F. MIXON DIES SUDDENLY

Was Well Known Over the State.

Had Been a Member of the North Georgia Conference for About Fifty Years---Funeral Will Be Held at Elberton.

Elberton, Ga., February 18.—(Special.)—Rev. J. F. Mixon died very suddenly from heart failure here tonight at 11:40 o'clock. He was 75 years of age.

Dr. Mixon was one of the oldest members of the North Georgia conference, having served in the ministry for nearly fifty years. For the past few years he had been residing here, having retired from active work due to his age. He was at one time presiding elder of one of the districts of the conference, and always took a high stand in his work. He leaves a wife.

Funeral services and interment will take place on Sunday at 11 o'clock.

TILLMAN FIGHTS AGAINST DEATH

His Right Side Almost Wholly Paralyzed.

Even Should He Recover, He Will, in All Probability, Never Regain the Complete Use of Speech---Columbia Doctor Is Summoned by the Family.

Washington, February 18.—Benjamin Ryan Tillman, senior senator from South Carolina and one of the most picturesque characters in congress, is critically ill here. His condition is extremely grave and Dr. E. F. Pickford, the attending physician, said late today that the outcome of the senator's illness would be determined within the next seventy-two hours.

The senator's right side is almost wholly paralyzed and aphasia has developed as a result of a cerebral hemorrhage on the left side of the brain. He has nearly lost the power of articulation, and this is regarded by the doctor as the most serious symptom of the South Carolinian's illness. He may recover from the paralysis, but in all likelihood, it is said, he will never regain the complete use of speech, the senator's dearest and most cherished weapon in his public service as a national legislator, and the keen edge of which has enlivened many debates of union-wide interest in congress.

Second Stroke of Paralysis.

This is the second stroke of paralysis to seize the southern senator, the first having occurred nearly two years ago, when he suffered a nervous breakdown.

Late this afternoon Dr. William A. White, superintendent of the government hospital for the insane, was called into consultation with Dr. Pickford. While it was asserted that the senator's mind was fairly alert, and that he was conscious of the happenings of his environment, Dr. White, as a specialist on disorders of the brain, the seat of Mr. Tillman's illness, was asked to make an examination. The verdict of the physicians after the consultation was that the senator's condition was serious in the extreme; that the outcome was doubtful and that it would require seventy-two hours to say whether the case was hopeless.

Telegraph for Doctor.

The alarm of the family is evidenced by the fact they have telegraphed for Dr. J. W. Babcock, superintendent of the South Carolina Hospital for the Insane, and the family physician of the Tillmans. He has replied that he will leave Columbia for Washington tomorrow morning.

Carolina Senate Expresses Regret.

Columbia, S. C., February 18.—The state senate tonight unanimously adopted a resolution deploring the illness of Senator Tillman. The resolution, which was unanimously adopted, expresses the regret of the senate at the senator's illness and the hope that he will be speedily restored to health.

Calls for Senator Bacon.

One of Senator Tillman's few intimates and close friends is Senator Bacon. The latter was one of those for whom the senator from South Carolina first called when he regained consciousness after being stricken on Wednesday on the steps of the capitol. Senator Bacon, as soon as he was notified of his friend's sudden attack, hurried to his room, which adjoins his own in the capitol, and found him seated in a large arm chair. He insisted on removing him to his own room, where there was a leather couch, and here the stricken man rested for an hour or more before being removed to his apartments.

It was not known at the time just how serious was the illness of the Palmetto statesman, but Senator Bacon insisted upon his remaining quiet and not attempting to enter the senate chamber. The daughter of the sick man was hastily summoned, as his wife was out of the city, and a physician called to prescribe for him.

Senator Tillman is looked upon as one of the most unique and forceful men in the senate, and all of Washington, and particularly the southern contingent, is deeply interested in his desperate condition.

WILHELM HEADS ATLANTA OHIOANS

Letter Sent to Society by John D. Rockefeller.

During After-Dinner Speeches Mayor Maddox Was Strongly Indorsed for Reelection and a Rising Vote Taken---Officers for the Year Elected.

The third annual banquet of the Ohio Society of Georgia was held at the Majestic hotel last evening with great success. During the after-dinner speeches Royal Daniel spoke of the necessity of keeping Mayor Maddox in office for another term. City Councilman Craig Cofield followed Mr. Daniel's lead, and nominated Mr. Maddox before the society. This motion was seconded, and a rising vote was taken, which proved to be unanimous. Mr. Maddox smilingly shook his head at this demonstration, and did not refer to the matter in his speech.

About 150 of Ohio's sons and daughters met in the hotel parlors at 8:30 o'clock. After a social half-hour the company marched to the banquet hall, and, standing by their places, sang a verse of "America," followed by a song written for the occasion by Dr. George A. Beattie.

While the dinner was being served an orchestra played popular tunes.

After the demi tasse, J. E. Wilhelm, president of the society, and toastmaster of the evening, introduced the first speaker, Dr. M. B. Lukens. Mr. Lukens made a short speech on the necessity of social diversion to break the strain of our present day intense living.

John W. Longwell, the next speaker on the list, read a poem depicting the various attractions of his native state. A faulty memory prohibits the quotation of more than the following lines:

"There the pocketbooks are thickest
But they open out the quickest,
For the wives, they are the slickest,
In Ohio."

Royal Daniel, who spoke next, covered many subjects, but by far the most important was his reference to a second term for Mayor Maddox.

Following Colonel George Gordon, who made a short address on "Ohio Products," Mr. Maddox talked with his usual facility on the relation between Ohio and Atlanta, but made no allusion to the subject introduced by Mr. Daniel.

In spite of this, however, Councilman Cofield reintroduced the matter and spoke of his high regard for the mayor and of the great calamity which would befall Atlanta should he not succeed himself. Mr. Cofield closed by nominating Mr. Maddox. The motion was seconded by Dr. Beattie, put to a vote and carried unanimously. The mayor made no response other than to shake his head.

After a letter of regret from John D. Rockefeller had been read the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: J. E. Wilhelm, president; J. T. Rose, first vice president; George Robertson, second vice president; E. O. Smith, secretary, and John Longwell, treasurer.

Columbus, Ohio, February 18.—According to Chief of Police Carter, former State Printer Mark Slater was arrested in Detroit this afternoon on a warrant sworn out by Prosecuting Attorney Carl Weber, of Columbus. A grand jury is now reporting on the Slater matter, having just come in.

The grand jury returned an indictment against Slater, and requisition papers have been issued for Slater's return to Columbus.

IN THE THEATERS

"The Thief."

"The Thief" is a perfectly-woven garment—a tapestry, one might say—with the central figure a woman, with love so deep as to overturn moral restrictions and make even theft seem almost a virtue.

Marie Voysin wants to look pretty and smart because she loves her husband and has a horrible fear of losing his love. So she steals. Their income is not sufficient to buy all the fashionable things, and so she steals from her own friend. The theft is discovered, but the son of her husband's best friend, Fernand Lagardes, who loves her, assumes the guilt.

The father of the boy, Raymond Lagardes, resolves to send him to Brazil, where he can work out his own salvation, and he is about to take his departure, when Marie cries out that she is the real thief.

Meanwhile, the husband discovers his wife's folly and thinks he sees deeper and more treacherous wrong in the boy's willingness to take his wife's guilt upon his own shoulders. When she cries out that she is the thief it seems to him confirming evidence of her faithlessness.

Finally, though, he is led to see her real nobility—even though it has been distorted by her fierce desire to please him, and him alone. He sees that to have allowed the boy to go would have proven her not only a thief, but a hardened woman—capable of letting others suffer so long as her desires are surfeited.

So, they turn over a page and begin reading Life again in each other's arms.

The play is a remarkable evidence of an author's genius: true genius which takes every detail and uses it with effect to make the perfect whole. Not a line is lost. Even what seems at first a phrase brought in for its brightness alone, afterwards proves a vital part in the dovetailing process.

With all this, there is no lack of sparkle.

Now as to the players. The two preeminent stars are, of course, Kelcey and Shannon, as Mr. and Mrs. Richard Voysin.

Miss Shannon is so apparently a student that one can lean back in his seat and watch with confidence everything she does, because he has a realization—which he feels subconsciously rather than in the first layer of his mental strata—that she will meet every situation with its proper dramatic interpretation. She is an artist—and better still, a beautiful woman.

Mr. Kelcey has swapped parts this year, and the change is to be commended. Last year he was Raymond Lagardes. As the husband he goes through all the throes of shame, rage, indignation, jealousy and then Love triumphant without ever losing control of himself. He makes effective use of every dramatic possibility, and what marks the whole play characterizes his work—completeness and finish.

Edward Mawson, Raymond Lagardes and Arthur Lawrence, as Monsieur Zambault, the detective, were admirable in their support.

Leonard Ide as Fernand and Eleanor Jennings as Isabel were only fair. They suffered by comparison.

"The Thief" will be seen again today, at both the matinee and night performances.

"Little Nemo."

Unquestionably the most important event of the season in Atlanta will be the presentation of Klaw & Erlanger's massive production, "Little Nemo," which comes to the Grand for a week's engagement, beginning Monday, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday and a special matinee Tuesday, Washington's birthday.

This wonderful play, which, although never before presented outside of New York, Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia, has been witnessed by upward of 1,000,000 people, has grown out of the clever cartoon ideas of Winsor McCay, and the marvelous dream adventures of Nemo constitute a series of enchanting stage pictures, such as have never before been attempted.

At the Orpheum.

The bill at the Orpheum this week has the distinction of combining more headliners than any one other bill so far. Merrill and Otto, in a bit of pleasantry called "After the Shower," are the leaders of the performance, and they deserve the title. A couple of real comedians are Galfetti's baboons, which keep the audience laughing from the start with their antics. These denizens of Africa play three little playlets all by themselves, the best of which is the barber shop episode, in which the barber gives the customer a shave and hair cut—and frightens himself within an inch of his life in the operation. Next week comes as a headliner "Betty in Dreamland," a spectacular singing comedylet, carrying eighteen people.

At the Lyric.

A matinee this afternoon and a performance tonight close the engagement of "Strongheart," the powerful drama which has been making a tremendous hit at the Lyric this week. Charles Edwin Doherty, who is starring in the famous DeMille college comedy drama, is proving an actor of rare merit, and the entire cast is proving capable. Next week comes "The Fatal Wedding."

Messrs. Klint & Gazzolo beg to announce the coming to the Lyric theater next week, with the usual matinees, their magnificent production of "The Fatal Wedding," presented with a company of stars which has never been equaled in this play, and seldom excelled.

CORPORATIONS ARE MAKING RETURNS

Hasten to Escape Penalty for Failure to Report.

Corporations throughout the state amenable to the requirements of the United States corporation tax law, are rapidly reporting to H. A. Rucker, collector of internal revenue, at the federal building, in order to escape the penalty imposed for failure, or fraud, which is a fine of from $1,000 to $10,000. The time limit for making these returns is March 1. As a result of the final date being so near at hand the office is practically swamped with returns, and all other business is laid aside to receive and stamp these reports and forward them to Washington.

In view of the fact this is the first year for the operation of this tax act, there is no way of determining whether the corporations are fast or slow in the matter of reporting, for there is no record on file by which the reports can be checked.

But they are coming in, and coming in rapidly.

After the time limit has expired the deputy collectors will search the records of the clerks of the court, the secretary of state and other sources, to ascertain the names of the corporations doing business in this state and against that will check the returns which have been made, as prescribed and within the time limit.

It is expected, however, that it will be the latter part of May before any definite information can be given out as to the number of corporations that have measured up to the requirements of the law.

The chief fear, it seems, of the corporations in making these returns and answering the questions asked, is that their business rivals will find out their financial condition. No such information can be secured at the collector's office, but only in Washington, and then under certain conditions. Added penalties are to be imposed for the practice of frauds in making these returns.

The collector specifically warns all corporations that the law allows only certified checks to be received in payment of these taxes, no others being acceptable.

The returns are made under the following classes, which names an excise tax of 1 percentum upon the net income over and above $5,000:

Class A: Financial and Commercial—Including banks, banking associations, trust companies, guaranty and surety companies, title insurance companies, building association (if for profit), and insurance companies, not specifically exempt.

Class B: Public Service—Such as railroads, steamboat, ferryboat and stage-line companies; pipe-line, gas and electric light companies; express, transportation and storage companies; telegraph and telephone companies.

Class C: Industrial and Manufacturing—Such as mining, lumber and coke companies; rolling mills; foundry and machine shops; sawmills, flour, woolen, cotton and other mills; manufacturers of cars, automobiles, elevators, agricultural implements, and all articles manufactured wholly or in part from metal, wood or other material; manufacturers or refiners of sugar, molasses, sirups or other products; ice and refrigerating companies; slaughterhouse, tannery, packing or canning companies, etc.

Class D: Mercantile—Including all dealers (not otherwise classed as producers or manufacturers) in coal, lumber, grain, produce and all goods, wares and merchandise.

Class E: Miscellaneous—Such as architects, hotel, theater or other companies or associations not otherwise classed.

ALLEN J. FUSS KILLED AT MACON

He Was Struck by an Engine.

Had Been Connected With the Central Railway for Nearly Forty Years --- Funeral Will Take Place Today.

Brown House, Macon, Ga., February 18.—(Special.)—Allen J. Fuss, nearly forty years connected with the Central railway in Macon, was instantly killed in the yards here this morning when an engine in charge of Hostler J. T. Thomas, going from the round-house to the watering place, struck him, knocking him down and severing his head at the shoulders. The accident occurred while Will Whitehead, an assistant at the round-house, was yelling to both the man at the throttle and Fuss in the middle of the tracks ahead of the engine.

The engine tender struck him before Thomas ever saw him, and at the water stop he first learned that he had run over a man.

Mr. Fuss came to Macon when a little boy with his father from Harper's Ferry and worked for the confederate government. He was inspector of engines, and held a trusted position with the road. His wife and several children survive him. They reside on Cole street. Mr. Fuss was the oldest brother of Leroy Fuss, who was badly hurt in the wreck of the Georgia Southern and Florida Railroad Monday night.

The funeral will occur tomorrow morning from St. Joseph's Catholic church.

MISS WHITCOMB'S FUNERAL TODAY

Member of Atlanta's Musical Fraternity--Had Many Friends.

The funeral service over the body of Miss Dorothy Whitcomb will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the North Avenue Presbyterian church, Rev. Richard Orme Flinn officiating.

The pallbearers will be Dr. M. W. Manahan and Messrs. J. W. Austin, W. O. Wilson, Arthur Merrill, Will Vaughn, Charles F. Rogers, Will Parkhurst, Cliff Humphries, George Obear and Clarence Blosser, and the interment will be at West View.

The news of the death of Miss Whitcomb, which occurred on Tuesday last at Clifton Springs, N. Y., was a source of grief to a wide circle of friends, and there has been a constant stream of callers since Tuesday at the apartment of Miss Whitcomb's mother, Mrs. J. T. Whitcomb, 325 Peachtree street. Mrs. Whitcomb and Mr. H. H. Whitcomb, brother of the deceased, returned home yesterday with the body, Miss Jack Whitcomb, her sister, remaining at home.

Miss Dorothy Whitcomb was especially well known among Atlanta's musical and cultured element. Over four years of her short life were spent in Berlin, where she studied music under Moser, a distinguished teacher of the violin and pupil of Joachim, and she enjoyed also the privilege of the great Joachim's classes. One winter of her stay in Europe was spent at the Court of Lippi in Detmold with the Count and Countess Von Ritberg, who were her admiring friends, and she had the devotion and friendship of all those with whom she came intimately into contact.

Her preparation for advanced study abroad was secured in Atlanta under able instruction, and she went to Berlin with Miss Leona Clarkson, a pupil of Carreno, and Miss Margaret Waddill, both of whom have since married.

On her return to America three years ago, Miss Whitcomb, following the advice of physicians, to live in a lower altitude than that of Atlanta, decided to remain in the east, and she divided her time between Boston and New York. One of the most successful ventures in her brief professional career was with a ladies' quartet, which concertized in the east and Europe.

Her talent and her ambition, however, always outstripped her physical strength, and in November last she went for rest and treatment to the sanitarium at Clifton Springs, where her death came on Tuesday of heart failure.

MAYOR INDORSED BY HEALTH BOARD

It Was Stated Yesterday That Mr. Maddox's Statement Was Final.

The board of health yesterday afternoon adopted a resolution, urging Mayor Robert F. Maddox to stand for reelection. The mayor was not present and if he had been he would have heard some very high compliments paid him. One member of the board said:

"I would vote against my own daddy for Bob Maddox."

Another said:

"I have lived in Atlanta for 40 years and Mr. Maddox has made the best mayor this town has ever had."

A copy of the resolution will be sent to the mayor at once.

It was stated yesterday from what was said to be a reliable source, that the mayor had held a conference with his friends and with a number of prominent business men and that he had reached a final determination not to withdraw the statement he had given out to the public. This was said to be final; but still the people are hoping that Atlanta will be given the services of this able manager for a second term.

A Tribute to Mayor Maddox.

Accepting an invitation from Professor W. F. Dykes, principal of the Boys' High school, William D. Upshaw, editor of The Golden Age, addressed the students yesterday on "The Meaning of Education," emphasizing the fact that the fullest meaning of education is the making of manhood.

Mr. Upshaw paid a glowing tribute to Mayor Maddox, which was warmly received by the boys.

"It is a great thing, young men," said Mr. Upshaw, "for a man to so grip a community with the power of personality that the office seeks the man, as in the case of Robert F. Maddox. The poise of his judgment, the strength of his purpose, the grace of eloquence and, above all, the moral stamina of his manhood and his administration make him a priceless asset as a citizen of the city and the state. Far beyond the confines of Atlanta I hear the call for his standing again at the helm of Atlanta's name, fame and progress."

Schlesinger for Maddox.

Harry L. Schlesinger, the well-known candy manufacturer, wants Mayor Maddox to run. He says: "Quit your fooling, Bob. The people of Atlanta want you for mayor. You were instrumental in having the bonds carried and the people carried the bonds because they knew or felt as if you were going to administer the spending of the funds. I think I speak for the city-at-large when I say that Atlanta wants Mayor Maddox as its chief executive before any other possible candidate."

A demonstration of the Pneumatic Jack will be made at the Union Shed today at 12 noon.

GRANTS SPEEDY TRIAL FOR GERMAN YOUTH

Irving Hanchett Is Charged With Butchering Young Girl.

Deland, Fla., February 18.—Judge Minor S. Jones, of the circuit court for Volusia county, has consented to advance the date for convening court in order to give a speedy trial to Irving Hanchett, the 18-year-old German boy accused of the horrible butchering and killing of Cleavie Tedder last Sunday at Glenwood a few miles from this place.

Hanchett was taken to the Putnam county jail at St. Augustine on account of the tense feeling against him. About 200 armed men threatened to lynch him on sight and have even declared their intention of transporting themselves in automobiles and raiding the jail in event of Judge Jones' refusal to grant an early session. Judge J. W. Perkins, of the Volusia county criminal court, returned last night from a conference with Judge Jones, urging him in behalf of the Glenwood people to honor their petition. The people have practically consented to await the course of the law.

Judge Felton appointed Attorney Claude Estes and Attorney Thomas Felder as counsel to represent the man.

Hyde's Suit Is Stopped.

Kansas City, February 18.—A temporary order restraining the attorneys of Dr. B. C. Hyde from taking further depositions in Hyde's suit against John G. Paxton for alleged slander was granted by Judge Walter A. Powell at Independence today. Paxton's attorneys contend that Hyde's attorneys invalidated their right to take depositions by examining witnesses in two different places on the same day.

MUSKET DOES DAMAGE AFTER BEING IN THE WATER 46 YEARS

Gainesville, Ga., February 18.—(Special.)—An old musket used during the civil war in a battle in Jackson county and recently found in a river by a party of small boys, came to life yesterday when it was thrown into the fire at the home of one of the boys. It came to life with a loud report, scattering the burning embers over the room and hurling a fragment of metal with a crash through an organ nearby.

Fortunately no one was hurt and no further damage was done by the explosive that had been in water for forty-six years.

WILLARD WEBB HANGED FOR ASSAULT

Marietta Negro Protested His Innocence to the Last.

Marietta, Ga., February 18.—Willard Webb, the negro who was convicted at the March adjourned term of Cobb superior court for criminal assault, was hanged in the Cobb county jail at 11:24 o'clock today. Sheriff McKinney pulled the trigger.

Webb was composed to the last, and walked to the gallows the coolest man that witnessed the execution. Webb was convicted on the statement of the assaulted party. Two other white women swore to an alibi. Public opinion was divided in regard to his guilt. He was charged with assaulting a white woman near Vinings. The prompt action of Sheriff McKinney saved possible violence at that time. He was brought to the Atlanta jail, but has been in Marietta jail for the last two months.

He made the following statement on the gallows:

"I am glad, cheerfully glad, before God and before the people, and I would be glad if more people than is here now could hear me. This is my last request on earth before man and before God, and this is my last talk with anybody, and I am dying in the truth and I am dying for something I don't know any more about than a dead man.

"I am thankful I am not dying for crime. I am dying to give satisfaction to the people. I am just as clear of ever committing a crime as any other man in the world. There is not a man in the world more innocent than I am.

"I have not got any prejudice against you people. I am dying just like the apostles of the Lord did. They died when they were perfectly innocent, and I am dying the same. I thank you for all your kindness."

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of illness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact that it is the only remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is, therefore, all-important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to purchase and note that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

It is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the kidneys, liver and bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and assists in overcoming habitual constipation permanently, also biliousness and the many ills resulting therefrom. The great trouble with all other purgatives and aperients is not that they fail to act when a single dose is taken, but that they act too violently and invariably tend to produce a habit of body requiring constantly augmented doses. Children enjoy the pleasant taste and gentle action of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the ladies find it delightful and beneficial whenever a laxative remedy is needed, and business men pronounce it invaluable, as it may be taken without interfering with business and does not gripe nor nauseate. When buying note the name, California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of every package. Price, 50 cents a bottle.

COLUMBUS FIVE'S GREAT RECORD

Have Scored 825 Points to Opponents' 264.

Played 16 Games --- Wind Up Season in Birmingham Tuesday --- Home Folks Preparing Great Reception.

Columbus, Ga., February 18.—(Special.)—The Columbus Y. M. C. A. basketball team is spending tonight in Atlanta, recuperating from the recent string of games in the Carolinas. Saturday night they play Auburn, at Auburn, and then go to Birmingham for the last road game of the season, Tuesday night.

On their arrival home Wednesday noon, they will be met by a band and autos, and escorted over the city, the program concluding with a public reception for the southern champions at the Y. M. C. A. building. The Columbus boys have played and won sixteen games this season, scoring 825 points to their opponents' 264.

ROY MORAN SIGNS ATLANTA CONTRACT

Speedy Left Fielder Gets Another Trial---Will Make Good.

Roy Moran, left fielder of last year's Cracker team, has signed his contract and is now a full fledged Cracker once more.

Roy is in fine shape this year, and says that all he wants is a chance to make good, and the man who beats him out will have a tough row to hoe. There is no doubt about Moran being in good shape. He looks it. He is heavier than he ever was, and his skin looks healthy.

There is another reason why Moran is anxious to make good, but at this time it is not best to say anything about the reason wherefore. If ye fans have a good imagination maybe you can guess the reason.

There is no doubt about Roy being the best fielder in the Southern League when it comes to covering territory, and there is only one man in the league that can approach his throwing ability, and that is his side partner, Dick Bayless. Moran is also an excellent base runner, and if he hits in the form that he at times gives promise of doing, there will be no trouble in the world of his going to the big league. The sporting editor, for one, wishes him well, and it is certain that the fans do so, too.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT BUCKLES MEETS WEST

Welterweights Box Before the Monroe Athletic Club in the Steiner-Emery Building.

Guy Buckles, the Omaha welterweight, is going to meet Billy West, the New York welterweight, in the main bout of the evening at the Monroe Athletic Club, in the Steiner-Emery building, on Viaduct place, on Wednesday night. Note the change of the date, from Thursday to Wednesday. This is brought about as the result of a confliction with the Young Woman's Christian Association's entertainments, which are held in the same building.

Buckles is a classy boy. This he has demonstrated in the only contest that he was in locally, that with Jack Robinson. He showed than that he has all the earmarks of a comer, and had his seconds turned him loose a round or two earlier, there would have been no question as to who would have earned the decision. As it is, there are many who thought that he had earned the decision.

West is also somewhat of a boxer and he, too, made a hit in the two mills that he fought locally, getting a draw with Christensen and Robinson.

Both boys are of the same type of boxers. Fast, heady, aggressive at all times and having an ability to wade in, take and give punishment and then keep on coming back to give and take some more. There is sure not to be a dull moment during the entire bout.

WHICH PLAYER ON TEAM THE BEST?

This Is the Subject of Interesting Essay Contest.

Which player on a baseball team is of the most help to his team in winning games? This question has been asked for the past few weeks in the columns of The Constitution and the local fans have been answering the question by writing good essays on this subject.

They have not been writing them because they like to write them, either, but because there are six prizes hung up for the most successful contestants. The prizes are: First, a season pass to every game at Ponce de Leon this season. Second and third, two tickets to the opening game of the season, and fourth, fifth and sixth, one ticket to the closing game of the opening series.

The contest is not for the person who picks the particular player that renders the most effective service, but the person who gives the best reasons for his pick regardless of the position he picks.

The contest opened on the last day of January and will close on the 1st day of March. Dick Jemison is the sole judge of the contest.

The rules are: Write on one side of the paper only. Sign your full name and address. Keep all essays within the limit of 300 words, as specified in the previous articles. Every one is eligible except an employee of The Constitution and everyone can contribute as many essays as he or she sees fit.

The line-up was as follows:

NATIONAL ADOPTS SHORT SCHEDULE

One Hundred and Fifty Four Games to Be Played.

New York, February 18.—The National League tonight adopted a playing schedule calling for 154 games for the coming season, but it was only accomplished after a majority of the magnates had expressed their opinion that newspaper criticism over the delay was causing unfavorable publicity.

Though the wishes of the American League for a 154-game schedule were met, the American League's interests were disregarded when it was resolved to stretch the schedule out to October 15. The American League schedule terminates on October 9, although all league contracts with players call for services until October 15. Ebbets, of Brooklyn, and Murphy, of Chicago, insisted on using their players up to the contract time.

Barney Dreyfuss, of Pittsburg, was the only club owner willing to make concessions, and he saved the league from what seemed to be a hopeless deadlock.

Pittsburg was scheduled for six Sunday games in Cincinnati, where there is no opposition and where such dates have been exceptionally remunerative. St. Louis was scheduled for six Sunday games in Chicago and four of these were when the champion Detroits of the American League were to play the Chicago Americans. St. Louis and Chicago objected, holding that Detroit would draw the big crowds. Then Barney Dreyfuss, with his world's champions, stepped in and offered to take three of the St. Louis conflicting dates. The matter was settled today by changing St. Louis to Cincinnati and Pittsburg to Chicago, so that in Chicago it will be seen whether the Pirates or the Tigers are the more popular.

Following the adoption of the schedule tonight, the board of directors met to consider the claim of former Manager William H. Murray, of the Philadelphia club, for two years' salary on his contract. Until the newspaper criticisms became so severe, the board refused to consider the case, but tonight they took it up. No decision was reached, and the board adjourned until tomorrow. The league members will continue tomorrow the consideration of the proposed changes in the constitution.

AT JACKSONVILLE.

Jacksonville, Fla., February 18—Racing at Moncrief Park proved another "eagle bird" day for the layers, the talent being severely trounced. The running of the third and carded feature elicited cries of "boat race," from the patrons. Sager, the winner of this event, was the dominant factor throughout, while Pulka, which, on recent form, appeared the logical contender, failed utterly to raise a respectable gallop.

The starting of Manager Brown was of the off-day variety. In the fourth event John Griffon, heavily backed by the "educated" money, was the only one to leave the barrier in motion. The performance of Royal Onyx in this event was almost too bad to be true. On the whole, the day's races was of the merry-go-round variety. Summaries:

FIRST RACE—Three and a half furlongs, selling: Tallahassee, 106 (Howard), 8 to 1, won; Trait, 109 (Troxler), 5 to 1, second; May Weed, 98 (Henry), 16 to 1, third. Time, :43. Lady Ormicant, Blue Mouse, Old Squaw, Rusticana, Aunt Lena, Kentucky Rose, Dixie Blue and Ivy Green also ran.

JERRY MURPHY MEETS DASHER

New Lightweight Aspirant at Armory Monday Night.

When Jerry Murphy and Jimmy Dasher tangle Monday night at Armory hall, under the management of Harry Staten, there will be more kinds of Queensberry fireworks let loose in a very short space of time than any busy Fourth of July ever saw.

This Murphy is the original bear cat—the one they got the name from. Unlike a lot of our scrapping citizens who sport Irish names and Roman noses, Murphy is the real goods—not from the "Owld sod," of course, but only once or twice removed. And he looks the part. Moreover, like every good Irishman, he can scrap.

Murphy has had a varied and variegated career. He has scrapped everything that fights on two legs, from bantams to heavies, and just recently he had the giddiest job that ever falls to the lot of a lightweight—that of being sparring partner to Battling Nelson. He was with the Durable Dane for some time, and while with him was able to study the tactics which have sent the original character up to the top of the lightweight ladder. He has rather grown to like the Nelson style of scrapping, and will try it on Dasher at Armory hall Monday night.

Dasher is just back from Savannah, and is right at his best at present. Atlantans know how good that best is. Dasher is just naturally one of the leaders of his profession, and a better boy at the Queensberry doings you couldn't find in a long day's trip.

Staten will have the usual two preliminaries. This mogul has won deserved fame for putting on first-class preliminary scraps, and those Monday night will be no exception to the rule.

BILLY WEST DRAWS WITH ROBINSON

Savannah, Ga., February 18.—(Special.)—Billy West, of New York, and Jack Robinson, of Chicago, fought fifteen fast rounds to a draw here tonight. West rushed furiously throughout the setto, but Robinson always met him with well-timed punches, which more than evened up for West's aggressiveness. The fast pace told on the men, who were badly winded at the finish.

AT TAMPA.

Tampa, Fla., February 18.—Two favorites rewarded the talent, but the other four winners were well played. Tamar, in the sixth, was the good thing of the day, being heavily played from the time that he opened at 6 to 5 until he went to post at 4 to 5. Jockey Nicol was badly injured when The Clown fell at the turn for home in the fifth. Summaries:

FIRST RACE—Three-year-olds, 5 furlongs, selling: Miss Elliott, 105 (Burton), 4 to 1, won; Restless Lady, 105 (Koerner), 2 to 1, second; Dorothy K., 106 (Franklin), 6 to 5, third. Time, 1:06 1-5. Ethel Martin, Tommy Wood and Vira also ran.

SECOND RACE—For maiden 2-year-olds, 3 furlongs: Blanche Ring, 104 (O'Fain), 4 to 1, won; Bertha D., 108 (Kohen), 6 to 1, second; Orella, 107 (Burton), 3½ to 1, third. Time, :38 1-5. Sentente, Ortega, My Kitty and Granger Twist ran.

THIRD RACE—For 3-year-olds and up, 5½ furlongs, selling: Baleshed, 108 (Reilley), 6 to 1, won; Niantic, 108 (Upton), 2½ to 1, second; Creuse, 88 (Cole), 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:12 3-5. Sarona Girl, May ene, Kith and Kin, Limelight, Dona H., and Alauda ran.

ATHLETICS PLAY IN BIRMINGHAM

With Crippled Line-up They Meet Birmingham Athletic Club.

The Atlanta Athletic Club basketball team will leave this morning for Birmingham, Ala., where they play the Birmingham Athletic Club basketball five for the second time this season.

The last time these two teams met it was in Atlanta, and the local players romped away with the game to the tune of 44 to 17, but since then, the Birmingham players have hit their true stride a little more, and are now going at a better clip, besides playing on their own floor, which is an advantage, however small, to any team.

The local team will be minus the services of three of their regular star players in the line-up, Captain Luther Hudson, at guard; Dr. Nat Thornton, at the other guard position, and "Tommy" Atkisson, at center, but despite this handicap, the local boys are going to do their best to win the game.

It is not known just exactly how the two teams will line up, but the probable line-up will be:

ATLANTA.	Position.	BIRMINGHAM.
Doonan, (Capt.).	R. F.	Chairsell and Biddle
Jemison	L. F.	Williams
Spencer or E. Ramspeck	C.	Wyckham
C. Ramspeck	R. G.	Hilty, Cole
Haas	L. G.	Streit (Capt.)

Bessemer Athletic Club and the Birmingham Young Men's Christian Association will also play on the Birmingham Athletic Club's floor at the same time, this game being played before and between the halves of the Atlanta-Birmingham game.

Oakland, Cal., February 18.—The Derby trial was the feature of the card at Emeryville today, and it resulted in an easy victory for Turret, the favorite. The son of Cunard ran over his field in the final furlong, winning from Chester Krum and Balronia.

NOT AN INCH OF HEALTHY SKIN

Left on Whole Body—Boy of Five a Mass of Itching Eruption and His Screams were Heart-Breaking—Bandages Stuck to His Flesh.

CURED BY CUTICURA TWELVE YEARS AGO

"My little son, a boy of five, broke out with an itching rash. Three doctors prescribed for him, but he kept getting worse until we could not dress him any more. They finally advised me to try a certain medical college, but its treatment did no good. At the time I was induced to try Cuticura he was so bad that I had to cut his hair off and put the Cuticura Ointment on him on bandages, as it was impossible to touch him with the bare hand. There was not one square inch of skin on his whole body that was not affected. He was one mass of sores. The bandages used to stick to his skin and in removing them it used to take the skin off with them, and the screams from the poor child were heart-breaking. I began to think that he would never get well, but after the second application of Cuticura Ointment I began to see signs of improvement, and with the third and fourth applications the sores commenced to dry up. His skin peeled off twenty times, but it finally yielded to the treatment. Now I can say that he is entirely cured, and a stronger and healthier boy you never saw than he is to-day, twelve years or more since the cure was effected. Robert Wattam, 1148 Forty-eighth St., Chicago, Ill., Oct. 9, 1909."

Millions of women prefer Cuticura Soap to all other skin soaps for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands. For rashes, itchings and chafings, red, rough hands, dry, thin and falling hair, for infantile eruptions and skin blemishes and every purpose of the toilet, bath and nursery, Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are invaluable.

Cuticura Soap (25c.), Cuticura Ointment (50c.) and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.), (or in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60). Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., 135 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

DALTON MAY CALL A BOND ELECTION

New Council to Consider the Question at the Next Meeting.

Dalton Ga., February 18.—(Special.) For some time Dalton has discussed the question of issuing bonds for public improvements, including schools, waterworks, gas, street and sidewalk improvements, and since the victory in Atlanta for bonds, they are more than ever exercised over the matter, and seem anxious to vote.

The new council for 1910, headed by Hon. Paul B. Trammell, is a progressive one, and are heartily in favor of these improvements, and it is likely that some definite steps will be taken at their next meeting Monday night, and it is expected that a bond election will be called at no distant day.

Ask for Charter.

Macon, Ga., February 18.—(Special.) The capitalists who recently purchased the Huff lands north of the city for a tourist hotel site asked for a charter in the superior court today. D. B. Dyer, of Augusta; T. J. Carling, N. M. Block, E. G. Harris and others of Mason are interested. The right to establish and operate hotels, parks, golf grounds and the like is asked. A big hotel enterprise is said to be waiting the results in the appeal of the Huff interests in the court.

Memorial Service Held.

Macon, Ga., February 18.—(Special.) Memorial service for Frances E. Willard was held at Mulberry Street Methodist church tonight. Hon. N. E. Harris was the speaker. The local W. C. T. U. prepared the program. Many people attended.

SPRING STREET TO BE EXTENDED

Committee Takes First Official Action.

Full Detailed Report on All the Plans Will Be Made in Two Weeks---Citizens Appear Before Committee and Urge Improvement.

The street committee of council took the first official step yesterday afternoon to improve Spring street by extending and regrading it. A large number of citizens appeared before the committee and urged that the work be done. It was plainly shown that there was no street improvement more needed in Atlanta.

The action of the committee was to appoint a subcommittee of three to confer with the citizens' committee and draft a full and detailed report of the work to be done with an estimated cost, so that the finance committee could be asked for an appropriation.

Two petitions were read which had been presented to council, one to extend Spring street from Fourteenth street to Peachtree road at a point near the Brookwood bridge, and the other to regrade the street so that it could be paved with a smooth pavement.

A. W. Farlinger, the chairman of the citizens' committee, was the first speaker, and he said the work should be done as soon as possible.

Congestion on Peachtree Street.

"We have had the number of vehicles counted on Spring street, Peachtree street and West Peachtree street," he stated, "and the result was as follows: Standing at the corner of Spring and Alexander streets the number of vehicles that passed in one day was 201; on West Peachtree, at the corner of Alexander, the number was 951; at the corner of Peachtree and Porter's alley the number of vehicles was 4,497. This shows the awful congestion on Peachtree that would be removed if Spring street was extended, regraded and repaved. There is no car line on Spring street, and, if improved, it would make one of the greatest boulevards in the city."

Captain H. B. Baylor, civil engineer, who is making a survey of Spring street, stated that he was not through with the work, and it would take two weeks more to complete it.

Will Give Right-of-Way.

Attorney C. T. Ladson stated that the property owners, with the exception of the owner of one lot, would donate to the city the right-of-way to extend Spring street from Fourteenth street to the Peachtree road. The one lot needed would not cost a great deal.

"I have been informed," stated Mr. Ladson, "that more vehicles pass over Peachtree street than over Broadway at the corner of Forty-second street, in New York city. This fearful congestion must be removed and the opening of Spring street is the way to do it."

City Engineer Clayton suggested that if Spring street was improved, there could be made a driveway into Carnegie way by taking off a street corner and Spring street could then serve two purposes.

The street committee seemed favorably impressed with the plans, and appointed the committee, as stated.

Observe Temperance Day.

Montgomery, Ala., February 18.—In every public school house of Alabama today "Temperance day" was observed in accordance with the Pette act of the last legislature. This act requires the state superintendent of education to provide a uniform program of exercises and to require teachers to set aside the day for instruction of pupils that the effects of intoxicants are dangerous. The act was a part of the prohibition code adopted by the legislature.

NORTH-SIDERS HOLD MEETING

To Discuss the Proposed Cemetery on Peachtree

Great Indignation Expressed on All Sides---Backers of the Movement Are All Residents of Mobile---Judge Hammond Represents the Capitalists.

Concerted action will be taken by the residents of the north side in opposition to the proposed establishment of a cemetery contiguous to Peachtree road, at Peachtree creek. This was developed at a mass meeting of citizens who held an indignation gathering in the law offices of Slaton & Phillips, in the Grant building, on Friday afternoon, elected officers and called a mass meeting of protest for Monday morning at 11 o'clock, in the rooms of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, where definite action, if not taken previously, will be taken then.

The north side is thoroughly aroused at the proposition to establish a cemetery on the famous residential street and popular driveway, and will spare no pains to see that the plans pending to have a cemetery established are stopped.

At the initial meeting, officers to carry forward this organized work were named as follows: Charles J. Haden, chairman; Lewis W. Thomas, vice chairman, and Walter P. Andrews, secretary.

The chairman was empowered to name committees to take such steps as were advisable to stop, at once, the plan now on foot to locate a cemtery at Peachtree creek, and within 300 feet of Peachtree road.

Backers Mobilians.

In the meeting it developed that the corporation which is behind the establishment of this cemetery, so undesirable and objectionable to the citizens of the north side, is owned by the American Securities Company of Georgia, all of whose incorporators, stockholders and officers are natives of Alabama and residents of Mobile. It is represented here by Judge W. R. Hammond. It is stated that this corporation, or at least its stockholders, engage, extensively, in the establishment of cemeteries near big cities, already operating cemeteries near Mobile, Montgomery and Birmingham.

The incorporators for the Georgia charter are named as George Huestis Fonde, Gregory M. Luce and M. O. Discher, all of Mobile, Ala.

The officers of the company, which organization was perfected in the offices of Judge Hammond, counsel for the company, are Charles B. Sims, John T. Schley, vice president, and Charles D. Willoughby, secretary and treasurer, all of Mobile, Ala.

So far as can be ascertained, none of the investors in this proposed cemetery are Atlantans or residents of this state.

The property in question lies in two parcels at the northeast corner of the junction made by Peachtree road and Peachtree creek. The frontage on Peachtree road, bought from the Collier estate, contains a clause, it is stated, which inhibits the use of this land for cemetery purposes. Immediately in the rear of this property lies some 50 or 60 acres bought from the Plaster estate.

Judge Hammond states that the Collier property is not to be used as a cemetery, but the Plaster property, in the rear, the Collier property being improved like a park.

He contends that there is nothing to prohibit the use of the property intended for cemetery purposes from being used as a burial ground.

Residents Indignant.

He declares there is no more reason why the dead should not be hauled out Peachtree to this plot than in Peachtree to West View or Oakland. But the residents for miles around that section are indignant that such use should be made of the property, for which thousands has been spent to make it a residential section. They declare that there is no occasion for this cemetery and they will resort to every means to have its location stopped.

Friday morning Judge Hammond was seen by one of the executors for the Collier estate and asked for the names of the purchasers of the property, which were furnished, which would indicate action may be taken in regard to the use to which the land is about to be put.

At the indignation meeting held Friday the situation was discussed with some heat. The details were gone into and the property owners present gave every evidence of putting up a determined fight in opposition to the proposed cemetery.

Among those present to organize a fight on the cemetery plan were: E. R. DuBose, John M. Slaton, J. K. Ottley, L. W. Thomas, W. L. Andrews, Charles J. Haden, E. Rivers, John W. Collier, E. L. Winn, Victor L. Moore and many others.

Men who were unable to be present telephoned their cooperation and stated they would be present at the mass meeting Monday.

Haden Talks.

Chairman Haden said after the meeting:

"It is a rank injustice, not only to those who live on and along Peachtree street and Peachtree road, but to the entire public. That splendid thoroughfare is everybody's drive. It should not be blocked by funeral processions. Certainly 150,000 citizens are more to be considered than three non-resident speculators. The people who invested their money and built their homes on the north side will not submit. The outrage will be fought to a finish. We are not remediless."

Bilious?

"How are your bowels?" the doctor always asks. He knows how important is the question of constipation. He knows that inactivity of the liver will often produce most disastrous results. We believe Ayer's Pills are the best liver pills you can possibly take. Sold for over 60 years.

WITH GENUINE PLEASURE

The Publishers of EVERYBODY'S MAGAZINE announce they have found a remarkable new novel, which begins in the March Number.

"A SUCCESSFUL WIFE"

A rare story of wide charm, rarely told.

It is the eternal woman's problem, married happiness or divorce.

One woman in every twelve is driven to divorce, but this woman works it out successfully. Opinions differ in regard to almost any story, but here is one to which no one has yet said No.

Told in almost breathless fashion. The facts are so vivid that they seem to hurry the story along. The second chapter contains less than Two Hundred and Fifty words, but Two Hundred and Fifty Thousand couldn't convince you any harder.

The "BEAST" has been pooh-poohing Judge Lindsey. Well, this month the Judge lays down documents which should convince everybody. They are manifestly genuine---reproduced in facsimile. Even a "BEAST" ought not to be pigheaded about it.

Fiction-wise, the MARCH EVERYBODY'S is fine. "Bishop Ogowanna," "The Burglar," "Shadow," "An Unframed Picture," and "Jed's Jonathan" are all fascinating narratives. There's a quaint story by Joseph C. Lincoln, and a strong one by Arthur Stringer. Tetrazzini, the grand opera singer, is a contributor to this number. Mary Sigsbee Ker, whose "Dollies' Prayer" you probably remember, has another of her lovable kid pictures in the magazine.

In the back of the magazine this month, with "Everybody's Publishers," you will find the matter of the postal deficit very carefully considered. If you are one of the friends who have been writing to us to know if we belong to a magazine trust, or if you are one of those who have been wondering whether the President's last message was going to result in making your home reading more expensive to you, this will solve a great many of your doubts. You should read it.

We do not know that we are making "the best magazine ever," but we do know that with thoroughly adequate facilities we are making a GOOD magazine. How good, you must be the judge.

ATLANTA GA., February 19, 1910.

The hen knows the lay of the land.

Atlanta has given a decisive bond to the future.

How would Uncle Joe Cannon look in private life?

Perhaps Mr. Roosevelt will return via the South Pole.

The man who voted against the bonds is still running.

Mr. Taft has his hands full—and they are fairly large hands.

Miss Atlanta is still holding out that bouquet to Mayor Maddox.

The government appears to be preparing to ride the night riders.

Peachtree street strenuously objects to going into general mourning.

It's positively scandalous the way Miss Atlanta is pursuing Mayor Maddox.

Still, nearly every blizzard gets cheerfully smiling as soon as it hits Atlanta.

Wonder what John D. would suggest for Senator Jeff Davis? Possibly boiling in oil.

Some people are asking, "Should hypnotism be prohibited?" Not during courtship.

Other southern cities are slowly recovering from the impact of the bond election in Atlanta.

The question now arises, will Mr. Rockefeller accept the suggestions of Senator Jeff Davis?

We see only one solution, and that is to stop this thing of co-educational moving picture shows.

Atlanta's heavy vote for extending the waterworks had nothing to do, Gladys, with the prohibition question.

The University of Copenhagen will probably refuse to receive any visits from applicants for South Pole honors.

The weather man could never stay popular long enough to be elected to the smallest office in the gift of the people.

President Taft will have to work up some counter attraction to keep the balance even when the "Colonel" comes home.

Some of the eggs being sold in New York are so venerable that the pure food vigilance committee wants to pension them.

Nine stills broken up in Murray county make it fairly certain that the inhabitants thereabouts are not asking, "What is whisky?"

Having silenced the echoes in Africa, Roosevelt does not object to waking them by raising an earthquake when he lands on his native soil.

Nothing unusual will occur when Taft and Teddy meet—nothing more than a hearty slap on the presidential back and a "Hello, Will—old boy!"

At this time o' year we don't guarantee Spring. The trees are bowing "Howdy," but one shouldn't expect a bushel of blossoms with every bow.

Mombasa will live in history; we have just learned that Gondokoro is on the map, and there are other towns yet awaiting fame and reputation through Bwana Tumbo's magic presence.

SPRING STREET MUST BE REPAVED.

The time has arrived for the city council to take determined hold upon the proposal to repave Spring street and make it available for general traffic throughout the northern section of the city.

Demand of hundreds of citizens for its extension to Peachtree road, and regrading where needed, presented yesterday to council's street committee, opens the entire question of the necessity for putting this street in such condition as will enable it to relieve the congestion of travel in that direction.

Repeatedly has The Constitution urged the improvement of this street to meet the necessities of traffic in the large section it covers.

But Spring street needs not alone extension to Peachtree road and regrading.

While this is an important and essential part of the improvement, it needs most of all, if it is to perform the required service, TO BE PAVED WITH BLOCKS OR ASPHALT OR SOME SUBSTANTIAL SMOOTH MATERIAL, FROM ITS BEGINNING IN THE HEART OF THE CITY TO ITS JUNCTION WITH PEACHTREE ROAD.

Under the ban and blight of the antiquated and nerve-racking belgian block, Spring will never be anything else but a local street; vehicles will continue to avoid it except when occasion or necessity takes them there.

In the meantime traffic keeps growing thicker and heavier on Peachtree street and the road beyond, because Peachtree street is the only well paved outlet—a traffic funnel, as it were—from the city's center between Marietta on the one hand and Decatur on the other; the only available radial artery of traffic within an arc of 180 degrees.

Is it any wonder that Peachtree street has become congested and is growing rapidly more so?

Everything uses it, from the pony phaeton to the heaviest of trucks hauling tons of steel.

And they are going to continue to use it until there is some other available, smoothly paved avenue to divide the traffic.

There is scarcely a driver but will dodge belgian block where he can, as the average citizen would run from a case of smallpox.

Spring street, paved with wood blocks or asphalt, would divide with Peachtree this tremendous traffic.

It would become at once one of the most attractive and most used streets in the city.

It would possess decided advantage over Peachtree street, because it has no car track and probably never will have one. With car lines on the streets upon either side of it, there is no occasion for one on Spring street.

With these manifest advantages to be derived, there is but one thing for council to do—REPAVE SPRING STREET AND OPEN IT AS EARLY AS POSSIBLE TO TRAFFIC.

The work should be arranged for NOW, while the Spring street question is pending upon the citizens' petition.

It is not a local problem; it is as big and broad as Greater Atlanta itself.

All Atlanta uses Peachtree street.

And Atlanta has expanded until it must have Spring, too, to satisfy the immediate traffic demands.

A CEMETERY ATLANTA DOESN'T WANT.

Timely and appropriate is the call for a mass meeting of citizens at the Chamber of Commerce Monday morning at 11 o'clock to enter vigorous protest against the establishment of a cemetery adjacent to Peachtree road and Peachtree creek.

It is a call to all Atlantans, for those whose homes are not there are interested in Peachtree street as the city's foremost pleasure driveway; all are concerned, too, in the reputation it has given Atlanta from one end of the United States to the other.

It is believed the city council has the power to prevent the location of this graveyard here, under the terms of Atlanta's charter; if it has, council should not hesitate a minute.

There is not the shadow of an excuse, except that of private gain, for its establishment at this point.

If this project goes through, Peachtree street, the pride of Atlanta, the home of many citizens and the pleasure driveway of all, will be converted into a daily avenue of death and mourning.

We can scarcely believe there is an Atlantan who would wish to see a cemetery located upon this street.

The opposition is not to cemeteries, but to their location. We've got to have them and we ought to have them well laid out and well kept.

But there is a place for everything; and there is no fitness between a cemetery and Atlanta's main residence and pleasure boulevard.

It will be not alone a misfortune to that section if this burial ground is permitted to be located there, but as well a serious civic mistake.

All Atlanta should rise against it.

Not only those who own their homes there, and are entitled to protection against undesirable institutions, but all who use Peachtree street as a driveway, will, we feel assured, join in earnest protest against it.

If the city has the power to control the location of the burial of the dead, either express or implied, the city council should lodge the whole force of that power against such a proposal as this.

It should go to court, if there be occasion, but, whatever measures are necessary, council should STOP IT!

These steps should be taken now.

Action delayed may be too late.

THE ORDEAL OF TAFT.

Like the hypothetical case put scripturally, President Taft has been and still is "fighting with wild beasts at Ephesus," speaking politically.

The original embarrassment of the Roosevelt legacy has never dwindled in gravity or ubiquity. With it is now complicated many additional features, growing indirectly out of the persistent personality of Roosevelt as well as the personality of Taft himself.

The president told the Grand Army veterans in Washington the other night that all executives save Roosevelt had been heavily "hammered," and that he looked for his forthcoming three years to compensate in progress and geniality for the present lack of those qualities.

Perhaps Mr. Taft is not strictly accurate when he says the Roosevelt administration was not vigorously attacked. We seem to remember a succession of shrill cries and loud wails from Washington during the entire seven years, the main distinction between Taft and Roosevelt being that that latter invariably left the field with the scalp of his assailant.

This much said, it remains that the big Ohioan faces a most troublous, bewildering and turbulent situation. The insurgents, Ballingerism, the cost of living, Aldrichism, Cannonism and his own ill-advised utterances regarding the tariff, have fed a spirit of antagonism until few Americans of prominence would care to be inhabiting his spacious shoes at this particular moment.

Small wonder that the distinctive "Taft policies," most of which are simply logical developments of the Roosevelt policies, are hanging fire in house and senate. Small wonder that the president feels impelled by the sluggishness of the congressional mill to send for leaders of both houses and lay down the law regarding quick action.

The recent enterprise of The Chicago Tribune in polling the republican editors west of the Alleghanies showed an alarming sentiment against Taft and a preference for Roosevelt. Editors proverbially have an ear to the ground. When they say so freely that a good many thousand people are looking askance at the big man in the white house, it is enough to give that big man serious pause for reflection.

In a way, the situation is unprecedented. It holds in solution many personal political fortunes, perhaps the fortunes of the now dominant party.

BEATING BATTLESHIPS INTO PLOWSHARES.

Judging from a recent contribution to Leslie's Weekly, Secretary of Agriculture Wilson would revise the old adage by beating, not swords, but, figuratively, the battleships, into plowshares.

His philosophy is singularly pertinent in view of the lather into which the nation is surely working itself regarding the cost of living.

Trusts continue to tax the ultimate consumer. The tariff, aiding and abetting the trusts, does a little second-story work on its own account, while steadily upward and onward go the estimates for militarism.

And here is how the secretary puts it, partially, at least:

> A 40-acre farm of irrigated land will comfortably support a family of five. It costs $55,000 to make a 12-inch gun. The money that goes to pay for this gun would reclaim 1,571 acres of land, providing homes for 196 people. When all the guns on the battleships are shot one time, the government blows in noise and smoke $150,000. This would reclaim 4,000 acres of land, giving homes to more than 500 farmers and their families. The money consumed in powder is lost to all future.

It is to be doubted if one patriotic or sensible American questions the duty and the wisdom of providing amply for the national defense.

But are we to gain nothing from our magnificent territorial isolation, our up-piled wealth quickly convertible into cash assets?

Are we to continue to thrust staggering burdens upon the tax-payers to carry a tremendous navy, while the farms of the country, WHICH SUPPORT THE NAVY AND EVERY OTHER INDUSTRIAL AND COMMERCIAL FACTOR, are neglected.

The secretary was addressing himself broadly to the topic of farming as allied to irrigation. We would go a step further and apply his reasoning to American agriculture in general.

MORE FEDERAL MONEY SPENT IN AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION, IN PARCELS POSTS AND IN OTHER AIDS TO THE FARMER, AND LESS MONEY SPENT ON BATTLESHIPS WOULD ASSIST TREMENDOUSLY IN SOLVING THE PROBLEM OF THE COST OF LIVING.

The day rapidly approaches when the American people can no longer ignore the elemental question of subsistence. We are making a poor preparation for it in our systematic financial neglect of the farmer.

"JUST FROM GEORGIA"

The Vaccine Brigade.

(A Parody.)

"What are the doctors marchin' for?" said folks-on-parade.
"They're out to vaccinate you," the blue policeman said,
"An' there ain't no use in hidin' in the stove or foldin'-bed,
For they're goin' to vaccinate you in the mornin'!"

"What's that so black against the sun?" said folks-on-parade.
"It's a feller on the housetop," the blue policeman said:
"He's done clumb up the chimney, an' you jest can see his head,
But they're goin' to vaccinate him in the mornin'!"

"What's that they're rollin' out the door?" said folks-on-parade:
"It's a feller in a barrel," the blue policeman said:
"He's been hidin' from the vaccine, but they'll land him on his head,
An' they're going to vaccinate him in the mornin'!"

The Flower Parade.

There's a dreamy light in the day and night,
And blue is the bending arch,
And soon this word, from left to right:
"March, little violets—March!"

In a new and blue and bright brigade,
At the call o' the bugle-breeze,
You will smile and bow on dress parade
In sight o' the golden bees.

And the rose shall gleam in a red retreat,
Or smile in a robe of white,
And the trees shall lean with the blossoms sweet
To the kiss o' the morn and night.

The furrow's lost in the silver frost,
And blue is the bending arch,
And Spring cares not what the jewels cost:
(March, little violets—March!)

WAS IT A FAIR QUESTION HE ASKED THE BOARD?

"Now, gentlemen," said Alderman Lon Johnson to the board of health, of which he is an ex-officio member, yesterday afternoon, "I want to say a few words about a very important matter, and what I say is merely informal and not at all official. What I wish to say is that acting as a member of council I would like to know what this board thinks of the plan to reduce the membership of all the city boards."

There was a deep and ominous silence. The rustle of a dead leaf falling into a trash cart and the scratch of a vaccination point could have been heard.

"Well, now," said a member, and then paused.

"We think as far as this board is concerned," said another, "the number is all right."

"We are getting along finely with our dozen of members," vouchsafed another.

"The only difficulty about a large board," ventured a new member, "is getting a quorum present."

"That can be remedied," suggested an old member, "by having the rule changed so five instead of seven members shall constitute a quorum."

A resolution was immediately adopted requesting the president to confer with the city attorney about having the quorum number reduced.

Then a motion was made and carried that stated that the matter of reducing the membership of boards was up to council, and whatever council did would be "perfectly satisfactory."

"I only mentioned this matter informally," stated Alderman Johnson, and his apologies were accepted.

STREET WORK PASSED UP BY COUNCIL COMMITTEE

Large Number of Streets to Be Paved and Many Sidewalks Laid.

The street committee of council passed up a large number of papers yesterday afternoon calling for the paving with chert several streets and the laying of tile and brick sidewalks in many sections of the city.

Among the important work passed up by Councilman Harrison in the third ward was the paving of Hill street with chert from Milledge avenue to Glennwood avenue, and the paving of Carroll street with chert from Tennell street to the Boulevard.

It is believed that the street committee has already passed up nearly enough work to consume the balance of the year.

Silas L. Morris is the editor-in-chief, and is assisted by an editorial staff which comprises about forty of the best-known writers on religious subjects in the south. The magazine contains about 100 pages of reading matter, exclusive of advertising, and sells for $2 a year, or 20 cents for a single copy.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY WRITES OF FOREIGN COURTS

(Copyright, 1910, for The Constitution.)

From the fact that young Lord Torrington is shown, by legal proceedings which has just taken place in London, to be head over ears in debt to moneylenders with interest, and to have been borrowing money from them at 40 and 60 per cent, in order to preserve himself from being posted as a defaulter for the nonpayment of his racing debts, it would seem that this promising scion of the British peerage has reached the end of his financial tether, before even attaining the age of twenty-five, and that unless rescued without delay by marriage with an heiress, will quietly end up in the bankruptcy court, and be compelled to give up his fine old home in Kent, known as Yates court, surrounded by a park containing some of the grandest old trees in the county, and stocked full of family relics, including the cabin chair in which the unfortunate Admiral John Byng, fourth son of the first Viscount Torrington, was shot in 1757, after being sentenced to death by court-martial.

Acquitted of Cowardice.

The court, which was composed of the admirals, acquitted him of the charges of cowardice which had been brought against him, but issued a verdict to the effect that he had not done his utmost to relieve Minorca, which was being besieged by the French fleet. According to the articles of war the court had no alternative but to sentence the admiral to death on this account, but strongly recommended him to mercy, on the ground that he had been sent to sea with a squadron poorly manned and in shameful condition, and that at the most he had been guilty of an error of judgment and of reluctance to accept the responsibility of engaging overwhelming French forces with ships in bad shape and inadequately armed. The prime minister and government endeavored in vain to secure not merely a commutation, but a pardon, but George II., with his traditional obstinacy, declined to listen to a word in the admiral's behalf, and he was shot down by a file of marines on the quarterdeck of his own flagship, in Portsmouth harbor, a victim of his sovereign's obstinacy, and of the construction of the existing naval regulations.

The first Lord Terrington was Admiral Sir George Byng, so famous for his victories over the Spaniards, and it is from another of his sons, Robert Byng, governor of Barbados, that the Earls of Strafford are descended. The late Earl of Strafford, it may be remembered, married the widowed Mrs. Samuel Colgate, of New York, and met with a tragic death, being run over by a railroad train at the very moment when his American wife was being presented for the first time at court.

Veteran of Indian Mutiny.

The house of Byng is one of the oldest in the kingdom, and Lord Torrington is its chief. The late Lord Torrington, eighth of his line, was a veteran of the Indian mutiny, and one of the favorite and trusted members of the household of Queen Victoria. It was her absolute refusal to dispense with his services as a lord in waiting that led to the inauguration of the present system, whereby one lord in waiting remains permanently attached to the service of his sovereign—just at present it is Lord Suffield—whereas the others, some seven in number, change with the administration, and have to belong to the political party that happens to be in office. His predecessor, the seventh viscount, was also a lord in waiting to Queen Victoria, in the early years of her reign, and the present lord officiated as one of the pages of honor of King Edward on the occasion of his coronation, thus continuing the court connection of the family.

Military and Naval Attaches.

There is no office that necessitates a greater amount of discretion and diplomacy than that of military or naval attache to an embassy. The chief mission of the officers appointed to these posts is to obtain information with regard to the defenses of the country in which they are stationed, and to keep track of the new departures in the organization, the equipment and the armament of its army and navy. More especially are they required to keep their governments informed of the new inventions in the way of ordnance, explosives, rifles, aviation, etc., that is to say, the very things which the powers concerned are anxious to keep to themselves, and to envelop with a mantle of secrecy. The penetration of this secrecy is always a delicate matter. There are almost always traitors who are willing to sell to the military or naval attache the information which he is endeavoring to obtain, and if the traitor gets caught at the game and is shown to have communicated secrets to the attache, the position of the latter becomes intolerable. For he is held to have been guilty of an abuse of the hospitality which he is enjoying on the part of the government and nation of the country in which he is stationed. In fact, he is regarded very much as a man who, while staying in the country house of a friend, bribes dishonest servants of the latter to betray secrets affecting the position and safety of his host.

Some of Their Uses.

During the various Dreyfus trials the public were allowed to perceive for the first time the nature of the activities of the military attaches attached to the foreign embassies at Paris, and how some of them were in the habit of purchasing confidential documents from the officers of the general staff of the French army.

It is in consequence of excessive activity of a similar nature that Colonel Matchenke, the military attache of the Russian embassy at Vienna, has just been quickly transferred from the Austrian capital to Constantinople, his departure from Vienna following his encounter with Emperor Francis Joseph at the last court ball. It seems that the aged monarch, who had always shown himself particularly gracious to Colonel Matchenke, and had repeatedly invited him to his table, and to his shooting parties, declined to acknowledge his bow at the ball stopped in front of him, looked at him from head to foot in the most contemptuous fashion, and then turned his back upon him. The emperor had only a few hours previously received a report of the arrest of an Austrian officer of the name of Kretschmar, attached to the war department at Vienna, in the very act of carrying plans and data into the colonel's house. Caught red-handed, the man made a complete confession, acknowledging sums of money which he had received from the Russian military attache, and also convincing the Austrian authorities that he was by no means the only one of his stripe in the colonel's pay. The colonel has until now been so well known and popular a figure at Vienna, and particularly at the Austrian court, that the whole affair has created a great sensation.

A Japanese Breach.

A funny story is current in London concerning an encounter between Lady Lansdowne and one of the Japanese chamberlains of Prince Fushimi, who has lately been visiting England. The chamberlain spoke English delightfully and Lady Lansdowne found his conversation very interesting. When he took his leave, he expressed the hope that he had not "cockroached too much on your ladyship's time." Lady Lansdowne mentioned the slip to her husband, and it was decided that when she next met the chamberlain it would be kind to call his attention to this lapsus linguæ. This she did, very delicately, but he did not seem at first to grasp the error. At last he beamed, thanked her profusely for setting him right, and then, with a foreigner's idea of gender, observed, "I quite understand. When I speak to your ladyship I must say 'hen-croach,' and when I speak to Lord Landowne I must say 'cock-roach'."

SOL BENJAMIN.

Atlanta, Ga.

Suggests Memorial to William E. Smith.

Editor Constitution: I am glad to see a movement in the Second district to erect a memorial of some kind in honor of the late James M. Griggs, whose gifts and attainments I admired, and whose personal friendship I enjoyed. He rendered service to his district and state, that, possibly, no other man could have done.

I am glad, too, to see that the home town of Hon. B. E. Russell is moving in the matter of erecting a suitable monument to his memory, which, no doubt, will be accomplished sooner or later, and it would be a fitting tribute to a worthy servant.

But "one of the noblest 'Romans' of them all," seems to have been forgotten, not only by the entire district, but by his home city, Albany, as well. I refer to the Hon. William E. (Teat) Smith, who was the only man at the time who could redeem the district from republican misrule, and rout the seemingly invincible Richard H. Whitely, republican, who represented the district several years immediately after the war. Whitely was an old confederate soldier, and was a power to be reckoned with when it come election time. Smith accepted a nomination after some of the best and strongest men of the district had been defeated several times by Whitely.

Smith was the only member of the Georgia delegation who voted against the infamous electoral commission in 1876, that swindled Samuel J. Tilden out of the presidency and seated Rutherford B. Hayes.

I remember as a boy, and a spectator, in one of the democratic congressional conventions at Dawson, hearing Hon. W. A. Harris, of Worth, nominate Hon. W. E. Smith in one of his characteristic speeches. He said:

"God bless little old Teat Smith. There is not much of him left, as the Yankees shot a good part of him away, but what there is I love, and a braver, better man never lived."

It does seem the valuable service Hon. W. E. Smith rendered his party and country has been entirely forgotten. Erect a monument to him, who was ever ready to spend and be spent for the good of his country.

Gossip at the Capitol

Comptroller General Wright is in receipt of a letter from the attorneys of the Continental Creamery Company, which has a branch here in Atlanta, with headquarters in Topeka, Kan., in which the right of the state of Georgia to tax the branch office is questioned.

The company claims that their offices are not situated in Atlanta and the agency situated here is as much a part of the corporation as if it were in Kansas. They claim that to tax the agency is to interfere with the interstate commerce laws.

Several decisions are quoted in defense of this attitude.

Colonel Wright has prepared a reply in which he sets forth the fact that it is the agency which is being taxed and not the corporation. The Continental Creamery is listed as a foreign corporation, but having a branch in Georgia, that branch is as liable to taxation as if it were a separate concern.

Twenty-five thousand dollars was paid into the state treasury yesterday by Fulton county. The payment was much larger than usual, which is largely due to the registration for the bond election. Many back taxes were paid on this account.

The railroad commission has prepared a new form of weekly report on which the railroads of the state are to report in regard to their late trains. The date, train number, the schedule, the actual time of arriving or leaving and the cause of the delay, if there be one, are printed at the heads of columns. Hitherto the report was turned in on any kind of stationery, and in any kind of manner, and often caused confusion, but this form will make the filing of the reports much easier and more systematic.

Former Railroad Commissioner S. Guyton McLendon was a visitor at the capitol yesterday.

Customs Investigation.

New Orleans, February 18.—An indefinite extension of time was today granted the United States grand jury in session here, in order that it may complete its investigation of the customs service at the port of New Orleans. Alleged irregularities, all of a technical nature, however, are said to be the cause of the investigation.

WIFE ARRAIGNED IN DIVORCE SUIT

Jennison Charges Drunkenness and Adultery.

Cross Bill Teems With Sensational Charges in Which the Name of W. C. Hundley Plays a Prominent Part---Seeks Custody of Child.

Charging habitual drunkenness and adultery, naming W. C. Hundley corespondent, asking for total divorce, the custody of his child and the annulment of the alimony agreement made with his wife, Walter R. Jennison yesterday filed a cross-bill in the suit for divorce which Mrs. Irene Jennison instituted against him several months ago. He also asks that Mrs. Jennison's petition for divorce be denied.

While more than once in Mr. Jennison's bill mention is made of Hundley's visit to the Jennison home last December, at which time Hundley was arrested, Jennison charges that his wife had been intimate with Hundley prior to this time, having lived with him for practically a week while in New York last November.

He alleges that while his wife was stopping at the Manhattan hotel, in New York, in November, she left the hotel in company with Hundley on November 29 and did not return until December 4. This, he has learned, he sets out, since his separation from his wife, and since the agreement made between them relative to temporary and permanent allmony.

The incidents of the night of December 16, 1909, when Hundley was arrested after 12 o'clock in the Jennison home on West Fifth street, are gone into fully. He sets out that he has been informed that Mrs. Jennison was drinking in a darkened room with Hundley; that she had previously changed her street clothes for a dressing gown and that the sound of kissing could be heard from the outside.

Persuaded Her to Return.

In this connection the bill reads:

"The said Hundley gave as his only excuse for visiting petitioner that he desired to call upon her to discuss the question of the defendant's infidelity to the petitioner, but why it should have taken from 9:35 o'clock until 12 o'clock to discuss these questions; why it should have necessitated the drinking of liquor to elucidate the subject, and why it should have necessitated the change of clothing on the part of petitioner, and why it should have necessitated the turning out of the lights in the room where the said Hundley was sitting with petitioner, and why it should have necessitated the visits of two nights before, at which the said Hundley remained until nearly 1 o'clock, the said Hundley did not clearly explain."

Later the petition reads: "Defendant further says, upon information and belief, the said Hundley, after petitioner had shipped her furniture to New York, with the avowed purpose of remaining there, and of taking an apartment, persuaded petitioner to come back to Atlanta, and defendant charges, upon information and belief, that the purpose of said Hundley was to get petitioner back to Atlanta for the purpose of frequently committing adultery."

In connection with the charge that Mrs. Jennison drank to excess, Jennison states that he knew, while living with his wife, that she drank occasionally, but was not aware of the fact that she ever became intoxicated until after the separation. On one occasion, he charges, she became intoxicated while at the Peachtree Inn, and threw her arms around a man, hugging and kissing him. She was in such a maudlin condition, he alleges, that she was unable to return to her home in Ansley Park, and spent the night at the hotel. He states that he was out of the city at the time, and did not learn of this until after the separation.

The bill further sets out that on one occasion in the latter part of 1908 he was with Mrs. Jennison at the Piedmont Driving Club at a dinner dance. Mrs. Jennison complained of being sick whereupon he accompanied her to the ladies' retiring room, where she vomited profusely. A doctor who examined her stated that she would be "all right in the course of time."

Sent to Sanitariums.

Here the bill reads:

"Defendant further shows that during their early married life, on the claim of illness on the part of the plaintiff, he sent her three times to French Lick Springs, Ind., where she stayed upward of a week on each occasion. That he further sent her, upon a pretext of illness, to a sanitarium in Atlanta, Ga., and that upon another occasion he sent her to Dr. Wiley's sanitarium in New York City for treatment and an operation.

"Defendant now charges, upon information and belief, that, from all he has learned since the separation, his wife went to these various institutions as a result of excessive use of intoxicating liquors, and to recover from the effects thereof."

According to Jennison's allegations, his troubles with his wife grew out of her unwillingness to curtail her living expenses when the panic of 1907 materially decreased his income. After this time, he sets out, he was continually harassed by bills made by his wife in defiance of his orders. She was continually nagging him, he alleges, and made his home "a howling wilderness." He admits that on one occasion he shoved his wife from him, and may have made the remark that he "felt like he could kill her." He denies, however, that he was ever cruel to her in any way.

The bill was filed by Attorneys Reuben Arnold and V. A. Batchelor, who are named as attorneys for the defendant. The outcome of Mrs. Jennison's suit will be watched with more than usual interest

Mr. Hundley has furnished The Constitution with a statement, in which he denies all charges of wrong-doing.

Cold Weather Essentials

Overcoats

Not a few of us realize the necessity of owning a good warm heavy Overcoat, and the economy of buying one of Eiseman Bros'. own make while price is of so little consequence. Many weeks yet of cold, windy weather—just a few months of summer, then back to the Overcoat again. Do you see the wisdom now of buying a $40 Overcoat for $26.67—a $35 one for $23.35—a $30 one for $20—or a $25 one for $16.67? Seems to us you would. Suits priced the same way.

Conspicuous in our heavy Underwear specials are the Stuttgarter Woolens at ONE-THIRD off regular prices.

SOCIETY

To Misses Whitney.

One of the most enjoyable and delightful events in Barnesville society of last week was a party given by Miss Allie Mae Neely Saturday afternoon complimentary to her charming guests, Misses Hazel and Mabel Whitney, of Atlanta. The home of Miss Neely was very attractive in yellow and white. The feature of the afternoon was an original contest in which each guest was asked to perform some special "stunt," the request for each performance being written in verse on dainty cards painted in jonquils, which were designed by the hostess. The program was very interesting, varying from an impromptu "Ode to Spring" to an original tract to the guests of honor. Miss Nelle Hamby was the successful winner of the prize, a beautiful hand-painted letter case, while a lovely engagement calendar was given the guests of honor. Hot chocolate was served late in the afternoon with nut sandwiches, and yellow and white mints, after which the guests departed expressing delight at having met the pretty and attractive little blondes from Atlanta.—Barnesville Gazette.

Home-Made Candies.

There will be a sale of home-made candies in the parlors of the Majestic hotel this morning, commencing at 10 o'clock.

The ladies of St. Elizabeth's Guild will be in charge, and the proceeds will go toward the painting fund of St. Luke's church.

Y. W. C. A. Notes.

The usual meeting for women will be held at the rooms tomorrow at 4 o'clock, the Philathea class of Jackson Hill Baptist church, of which Mrs. L. D. Watson is teacher, in charge. Miss Alice Palmer will speak on "The Young Woman's Relation to Society," and the music will include a duet by the Misses Parks, and a solo by Miss Carabel Clark. Devotional exercises will be led by Miss Catherine Clark. All women are cordially invited to be present, and to remain for a social cup of tea after the program. Strangers are especially invited.

The spring term of the millinery class will open Monday evening at 6:45. The sewing class has already begun work, but it is not too late for new members to enter and take advantage of this opportunity to get help in summer sewing. Singers are wanted to join the glee club which has begun work under the leadership of Miss Furlow Anderson.

An Unusual Program.

Of unique interest in music will be the concert at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander W. Smith on the evening of March 30.

Werner; and "The Happy Prince," by Oscar Wilde, will be read by Mrs. Edward T. Brown, Mrs. Edward Worcester, Jr., playing the incidental music, also written by Liza Lehmann.

Neither of these works has ever been presented here before, and their initial performance will center artistic and social attention.

Patriotic Occasion.

On Tuesday afternoon and evening, the 22d, Payne Memorial church Sunday school will have a candy-pulling at the church, corner of Hunnicutt and Luckie streets.

To Miss Curtiss.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Ottley entertained at bridge last night in honor of Miss Jennie McGraw Curtiss, the charming guest of Mrs. Henry A. Morrow. In the decoration, the forthcoming anniversary of Washington's birthday was anticipated and the score cards were painted in cherries and attached were little red hatchets. The prizes were patriotic pictures, and on each table were little framed mottoes appropriate to the group.

The house throughout was decorated in roses, and at 11 o'clock a delicious hot supper was served. The guests were served at the card tables, and the occasion proved to be a most happy one.

Mrs. Ottley wore a becoming gown in pink crepe satin, the corsage trimmed in crystal. Mrs. McCabe wore a black peau de soie, the corsage trimmed in point lace.

Miss Curtiss is a young woman of gracious charm, and she is making many friends.

Invited to meet them were Mr. and Mrs. Thornton Marye, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Calloway, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Inman, Mrs. Knowles and Captain J. W. English.

LOUIS R. GLAVIS STILL UNDER FIRE

His Testimony During One Day Will Cover 1,000 Pages.

Washington, February 18.—Louis E. Glavis was again under cross-examination all of today before the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee, and when adjournment was taken until tomorrow morning there was no indication that John J. Vertrees, counsel for Secretary Ballinger, was approaching the end of his constant fire of interrogations.

Some idea of the latifude given to Mr. Glavis may be gained from the fact that including the two sessions today, the printed testimony of this one witness alone covers nearly one thousand pages.

Mr. Vertrees and Mr. Glavis had several long wrangles during the afternoon session as to the meaning and intent of many of the letters and telegrams in the record. A typical instance was a telegram from Mr. Ballinger, in reply to a message from Commissioner Dennett, of the land office, in which the secretary stated his reluctance to act in the Alaska cases, and suggested that Mr. Dennett make the necessary orders himself as to postponing the hearings.

Mr. Vertrees sought to show that this meant that Mr. Ballinger was not directing the Alaska cases in any way whatsoever. Mr. Glavis, on the other hand, insisted that the only construction he could put upon the telegram was that it showed that none of the officials in the department dared do anything in the cases without first consulting the secretary. Mr. Glavis contended that the telegrams conveyed a specific order by Secretary Ballinger.

BELIEVE MISSING BOY HAS BEEN FOUND

Richmond Byers, Kidnaped Five Years Ago, Is Left in Little Rock.

Little Rock, Ark., February 18.—Striking points of resemblance between a boy abandoned here Wednesday by a stranger, and Richmond Byers, son of Dr. W. L. Byers, of Seelyville, Ind., for whom the police have been searching for five years, have been found and the authorities here are working upon the theory that this may be the long lost boy.

The child was believed to have been kidnaped by Gypsies five years ago and his father has spent more than $25,000 and five years of his life in a search for his boy.

Richmond Byers was about 2 years old when he was stolen and the boy left here is believed to be between 6 and 8 years old. The Byers boy had an impediment of speech. The lad here is similarly affected. The Byers boy is said to have lost a part of the index finger of his right hand in babyhood and the boy here has suffered a similar accident.

WAITING FOR TRIAL, PRISONER DIES

W. H. Young Was Charged With Defrauding Rome People.

Rome, Ga., February 18.—(Special.)—W. H. Young, who has been in jail for several weeks, charged with defrauding a number of Rome people, died this morning at 3 o'clock from an attack of appendicitis. Young was operated on early in the night, but failed to be relieved by it.

He has had quite a checkered career. About a year and a half ago he was a resident of Rome, and while here was charged with passing a number of worthless checks and indulging in other shady operations. From Rome he went to Birmingham, Ala. Requisition papers were secured from the governor of that state, but Young fought so vigorously that he succeeded in getting away from there. About two months ago he was located in Jacksonville, Fla., and after a spirited legal fight the Rome officers got possession of him, and lodged him in Floyd county jail, where he has been since that time awaiting trial. He made two unsuccessful attempts to escape from jail recently, but was foiled in each instance.

What Women Will Wear This Spring.

First of all, it is still the day of the slim woman and the straight up and down styles with a very strong tendency toward absolute plainness.

The severe tailored suit for spring has a plaited skirt and a rather close-fitting single-breasted coat, hip length and cut away; or it must be a Russian blouse with side fastening.

The waist line, thank the gods of fashion, is once more normal, but sleeves are short again, with the three-quarter length the best style.

But this is only the barest outline of the styles that Miss America will don this spring. In a 20-page fashion supplement of the March Woman's Home Companion are pictures of the newest gowns and hats, and pictures of the smart fabrics, illustrated in their exact colorings. More than this, there is an article on "The Art of Becoming Dress," by Grace Margaret Gould, one of the fashion authorities of America, which will teach any woman who is willing to learn just how to suit the styles of her individual figure in order to give herself the very best appearance.

FORMER CORONER FINED FOR SELLING COCAINE

Stanley, formerly coroner of Chatham county, was today fined $1,000, with the alternative of twelve months on the chain-gang, for violating the state law in regard to the sale of cocaine. The arrest of Dr. Stanley followed a crusade against "dope sellers." The case will be taken to the supreme court.

Committee Is Increased.

Washington, February 18.—In order to give the democrats a larger proportionate representation on the special committee to investigate the prices of commodities, the membership of the committee was increased today from seven to eight, Senator Chamberlain, democrat, of Oregon, being added. As originally constituted, the committee consisted of five republicans and two democrats. The motion for the increase was made by Senator Aldrich.

FLOYD POLITICS GETTING WARM

Probable That Primary Will Not Be Held Until August.

Rome, Ga., February 18.—(Special.)—The probability is that Floyd county's primary will be held not earlier than August, thus making it the same date as the state primary. There is already considerable talk about the local situation, and many of the aspirants and their friends are asking when the primary will be.

While no official action has been taken, it is very probable that it will be a late primary. The settlement of the date is in the hands of the democratic executive committee, of which Barry Wright is chairman. The committee will probably be called to meet and act upon the proposition some time soon.

Candidates for Offices.

So far as is known, all the present county officers will be candidates for reelection. Judge Harper Hamilton will not run again for judge of the city court, but will offer for the judgeship of the superior court. There is no doubt that Judge John W. Maddox, who is serving a one-year term by appointment, will also offer before the people for the full term. To succeed Judge Hamilton those who have been mentioned are W. J. Nunnally and Justice of the Peace Walter Harris, although this court may be abolished by the next legislature as recommended by the grand jury of this county in January.

It is Floyd's time to name the senator. Among those mentioned in this connection are Captain Felix Corput, Captain John C. Foster, W. H. Ennis, Colonel J. Lindsay Johnson, Colonel L. A. Dean, Hon. G. B. Holder, Hon. Claude Porter and others. The three present representatives, Messrs. Barry Wright, G. B. Holder and Claude Porter, may all offer again, although, as stated, two of them may be in the senatorial race, and this might bring on a number of other entries.

DICKENS IS GUILTY OF CONCEALING BONDS

From His Trustee in Bankruptcy---Mobile Man to Be Sentenced Monday.

Mobile, Ala., February 18.—Charles C. Dickens, worth $700,000, confessed spendthrift and former administrator of the estate of the English Manufacturing Company, and also of his dead brother, J. O. Dickens, and whose legal entanglements have attracted public attention for more than a year, met his Waterloo yesterday afternoon when a jury in the United States district court adjudged him guilty of concealing from his trustee in bankruptcy bonds valued at $50,000 and part of the bankrupt estate.

The verdict was based upon the third count in a federal indictment brought by the grand jury some months ago.

Dickens was arraigned before United States Judge Toulmin this morning, and, at his request, court suspended sentence until Monday.

MAY CONTEST ELECTION.

Defeated Candidate's Friends Charge Irregularities.

Swainsboro, Ga., February 18.—(Special.)—There are some rumors of a contest of the election held Tuesday to fill the unexpired term of Wilder Phillips, who died December 25, the result of the election being to give Sherod Phillips a majority of 83 votes over his opponent, A. W. Proctor. Mr. Proctor's friends charge some irregularities in the election, and for that reason are talking about contesting the same.

Just what the alleged irregularities are has not been ascertained, nor is it altogether certain that a contest will be entered.

"THERE HAS BEEN TOO MUCH MUCK-RAKING"

Declares John Kendrick Bangs, the Author, in New Orleans Interview.

New Orleans, February 18.—There has been too much "muck-raking" and too little faith in man, in the opinion of John Kendrick Bangs, the author, who is in New Orleans for a few days.

"The muck-raking busines was all right for a while," Mr. Bangs declared. "It has been carried too far, however. Now we want to get back to the idea that we are all one people and that the best thing we can do is to help each other along. A little more happiness, a little more confidence in one's fellow man; a little better understanding of conditions as they exist—that is what is needed, and the good horse sense of the people will do the rest."

Government Agent Probing.

Chicago, February 18.—W. D. Miles, a former employee of Armour & Co., who is believed to be collecting evidence for the government to be used in the grand jury investigation of the methods of the so-called "beef trust" returned today after a stay of several weeks in Omaha and Kansas City. John R. Hunter, manager of Morris & Co., and L. W. Ervine, credit manager for the same company, were before the jury today. Two employees of Schwarzschild & Sulzberger also appeared.

High Price for Pork.

Pittsburg, February 18.—"Pork on the hoof" was quoted at $9.75 at the stock yards today. This is the fourth high record price established in as many days. Sheep and lambs also increased 10 cents over yesterday's figures.

What Are the Styles?

Are the skirts to be plaited or plain, trimmed or untrimmed? Are the Spring changes radical, or will "last year's" do? Are one-piece dresses still in the mode? What is the new sleeve, and what about its length? What are the fabrics and what are the trimmings? And where, oh where! will the waist line be? These are the questions. The March WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION has the answers.

QUIET FOURTH OF JULY PLANS OF ORGANIZATION

Toy Pistol and the Torpedo Cracker Will Be in Little Demand.

Chicago, February 18.—The toy pistol, the torpedo cracker and "other instruments of carnage" will be in little demand the next Fourth of July if the intentions of promoters of a safe and sane celebration of Independence Day are carried out. Plans for this year's celebration in Chicago were announced yesterday by the Chicago Sane Fourth Association.

The plans are for a huge festival to be participated in by persons of all nations who have made this their home.

"We want to stimulate civic pride," said Francis W. Shepardson, chairman of the program committee. "The many elements in a cosmopolitan population will be called upon to join forces in a national celebration of Independence Day.

"Each of the peoples of foreign origin, while emphasizing some feature of their own national history, will be invited to make contribution to a Chicago demonstration which will commemorate in a fitting way the birthday of the land of their adoption."

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL THE MARKETS

EVENING UP CONTRACTS OVER THE HOLIDAYS

Cotton Market Had Narrow Early Session, Followed by Weakness Later On.

New York, February 18.—Business in today's cotton market was pretty well restricted to the readjustment, or evening up of commitments for over-the-approaching three-day adjournment; with a narrow and irregular early session followed by late weakness, under scattering liquidation and local bear pressure. The close was easy at a decline of 8@19 points of the day.

The market opened steady at a decline of 5 points on November, but generally 2 to 5 points higher, in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables and a renewal of yesterday's late covering movement. There was, however, no sign of bull support and the market soon eased off, under realizing by yesterday's early buyers, who seemed contented with moderate profits and selling by some of the brokers who were credited with liquidating contracts for the May long interest on the decline earlier in the week. After showing a net loss of about 1@3 points on active months, the market steadied on arbitrage buying and a demand for May from spot houses, while shortly after midday business, which had been quiet, became a little more active and prices worked up to a net gain of about 1@6 points on reports of a better spot demand in New Orleans, a few southern buying orders and Wall street covering. The week-end figures proved disappointing, as the into-sight for the week was somewhat larger than anticipated, and spinners' takings fell considerably under the corresponding week last year, and after their publication offerings became heavier with early buyers liquidating and local bears selling on rumors that a leading spot interest was selling May contracts. There appeared to be a few buyers in the market on the decline, and prices closed at the lowest level of the day. Later advices from New Orleans failed to confirm the claims of a large spot business and southern spot markets officially reported were unchanged to ⅛c lower. The market will be closed on Monday and Tuesday of next week.

Receipts at the ports today 23,455 bales, against 17,130 last week and 32,286 last year. For the week 85,000 bales, against 87,779 last week and 142,140 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans were 1,532 bales, against 4,185 bales last year, and at Houston 2,012 bales, against 9,219 bales last year.

Spot closed quiet; middling uplands 14.80; middling gulf 15.05; sales 100 bales.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, February 18.—Spot cotton steady and unchanged; sales on the spot 1,210; to arrive 200; hedged cotton 2,500; low ordinary 11¼, nominal; ordinary 11⅝, nominal; ordinary 12 1-16, nominal; good ordinary 13½; strict good ordinary 13 15-16; low middling 14⅜; strict low middling 14 11-16; middling 14 15-16; strict middling 15⅛; good middling 15 5-16; strict good middling 15½; middling fair 15⅝; middling fair to fair 16; fair 16⅜, nominal; receipts 1,532; stock 186,556.

Cotton futures opened steady at a decline of 1 to 2 points. Liverpool futures were not as high as due by about 4 points. After the call, the ring was dull; some few selling orders came on the market and ring scalpers also traded on the short side, causing a decline of 5 to 6 points in the old crop months in the first half hour of trading. The new crops were wholly neglected. The weather map showed cold and wet weather in nearly all portions of the belt, but the precipitation in Texas, where it was badly needed, was not enough to have much effect on the market.

Toward the middle of the morning the old crop months stood 6 points down, compared with yesterday's closing, and the rumor went out that some big trader was quietly selling out. When the market looked as if it would weaken under this story, spot brokers, coming in from sample rooms, brought the news of a good spot inquiry and reported sales of 1,500 bales from factors' tables. This immediately gave the market a better tone and prices rose until just before noon they were 5 to 6 points over yesterday's closing and 11 to 12 points up from the lowest of the day. At noon the market was quiet and steady at a net advance of 3 to 5 points.

In the afternoon session, considerable weakness developed in the old crops, as the result of selling by both sides, and prices fell until they were 24 to 28 points down from the top and 18 to 21 points under yesterday's closing. Selling began soon after the noon hour and reached its height after the posting of the weekly statistics. Ring traders went short heavily on the small mill takings for the week, 213,000 bales against 305,000 this week last year and 310,000 two years ago. The market had a weak undertone up to the closing, which was steady at a net decline of 18 to 20 points on the old crops and 11 points on October.

Dry Goods.

New York, February 18.—The cotton goods market was a little more active at low prices, some trading being reported on sateens, twills and other convertibles. The jobbing trade held about as it has been for the past week, retailers supplying their wants without speculation of any sort. Cotton yarns were lower and wool is quiet.

Liverpool Cotton.

Liverpool, February 18.—Closing: Cotton, spot in fair demand; price 5 points higher; American middling fair 8.56; good middling 8.26; middling 8.10; low middling 8.00; good ordinary 7.74; ordinary 7.49. The sales of the day were 10,000 bales, of which 500 were for speculation and export and included 9,400 American. Receipts none. Futures opened firm and closed barely steady.

Liverpool Cotton Statistics.

Liverpool, February 18.—Following are the weekly cotton statistics:

Imports, all kinds, 57,000 bales.
Imports, American, 34,000 bales.
Total exports, 8,500 bales.
Stock, all kinds, 988,000 bales.
Stock, American, 903,000 bales.
American forwarded, 62,000 bales.

Argo, Jester & Co.

New York, February 18.—No new feature of interest appeared in the market today and prices, which showed some strength at the opening, gradually eased off, closing at the low point of the day. Sentiment continues against the market and rallies are not lasting, as there is no support. The figures for the week were a trifle in favor of the bears and lent color to the reports of large selling by the south. Statistics, however, are neglected at present, and are not likely to be of much influence except in so far as they refer to the new crop. For the present it looks safer to sell on the bulges than to buy on the dips.

Liverpool is due to open 6 points lower.

READING RENEWS ITS UPWARD MOVEMENT

Prices of That Stock Nearly Reached Record of Last Year. Big Transactions.

New York, February 18.—When the energies of the speculation had begun to show signs of flagging today they were revived by the resumption of the strong movement in Reading. That stock again assumed the leadership of the market after having rested for a day. On enormous transactions the price rose to 172¾, only a shade more than a point below its record price touched in the speculation of last year. News bearing on the movement consisted almost wholly of conjecture as to the source of the buying. An obstinate and unwieldy short interest was credited with a large part of the urgent demand. Foreigners were included in the shorts by reason of purchases of calls on the stock made for some time past in the London market. The general list was slow to respond to this development in Reading and the sympathetic strength was not uniform or all-embracing. Speculative sentiment continued to feel the relief of the passing of immediate apprehension over the anti-corporation question. A factor in this belief was the character of the amendments proposed for the bill to extend the scope of interstate commerce law. These, it was felt, were calculated to allow latitude to the financial exigencies of railroad corporations. There was much interest in the striking movement of the American Tobacco 4 per cent bonds, which moved up in a buoyant manner. No authoritative explanation could be had of this movement, but the effect on stock market sentiment was to imply a feeling of confidence on the part of the corporation chiefly concerned in the pending supreme court decision. It was pointed out, however, that in case of a dissolution of the merger of the companies in this combination, the redemption of these bonds at par might be implied. It is a fact, also, that large purchases of these bonds in the open market have been made by the company in times past for cancellation.

Incoming reports of renewed storm blockades through the west and southwest did not interfere with the rise in prices. Special interest attached to a report of a large reduction in the St. Paul working forces for the purpose of economy to offset the heavy cost of operation on account of bad weather conditions. Reports of an intended entry of the Vanderbilt connection into Baltimore through the Western Maryland and of Chesapeake and Ohio designs towards Hocking Valley had their effect on the special stocks involved.

Preliminary estimates of the week's currency movement indicated a large gain in cash by the banks, in spite of the million and a half gold shipped to Argentina today. The movement of gold from London to Paris aroused the interest of New York bankers as an indication that Paris is calling home credits from the London market. This is in accordance with expectation in view of the work of rehabilitation of flood losses in the French capital which has to be financed. There was a rise in the private discount rate in Berlin, also showing that the gain in strength of the Imperial Bank of Germany has removed resources from the open money market there. The present ease of the London money market is felt to owe something to the pause in employment of resources to see the political horizon cleared. Profit-taking sales made some impressions on the market at the advances and accounted for irregular tone at the closing.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $4,330,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, February 18.—Today's market was very quiet early, with a fair European demand, which absorbed the local offerings in the absence of southern business, which was practically nil all day, owing to curtailed wire service. In the late afternoon, weakness developed, owing to fresh liquidation, although on a moderate scale from Wall street and the west and heavy selling from New Orleans, the market closing unsettled at the lowest prices. Again, it was not so much the amount of cotton that was sold as the absence of demand, which brought the decline. Needless to say, the local feeling is again very bearish, but we understand a good deal of cotton was sold earlier in the month on call in Liverpool, so that on a further decline support is likely to develop from Europe on the buying in of the hedges against this cotton as the spinner fixes the price. We do not think any increase in the domestic demand is likely so long as the crop prospects continue at all favorable, as our spinners bought very freely at before the new year.

Liverpool should be 6 to 7 points lower in the morning, to meet our decline this afternoon.

WHEAT GAINED EARLY, BUT LOST IT LATER

Market Closed at Near Bottom Prices of the Day---Corn and Oats Lower.

Chicago, February 18.—Wheat made decided gains early in the session today and later fell off more markedly under a wave of bearish sentiment, finishing at nearly the bottom. Corn, with less initial firmness, took a more spectacular drop, and closed ⅝c to 1⅛c down. Oats modelled their course after corn and sagged to a finish ⅜c to ¾c lower than yesterday. Provisions followed the grains and after marked gains closed weak.

A good demand at the outset in the wheat pit quickly ran prices up from $1.13¾ to $1.14½, at which point the bulls, tired of listening to the siren song of crop damage reports, unloaded quantities of their holdings and precipitated a sharp break in prices. The market sloped downward until May touched bottom at $1.12⅞, 1⅝c below the high point. Other futures fell off from 1½c to 1¼c. Spasmodic efforts to lift the fallen prices were ineffectual, and the weakness in the corn pit added to the down drag. Northwest wheat was thrown into the selling carnival which marked the decline. Moderate primary arrivals were without effect in staying the decline, and were attributed to severe weather conditions rather than to a shrinkage in the available grain. The finish came at nearly the bottom prices, with May at $1.13@1.13⅛, ⅜c lower than the final figures yesterday.

Corn prices fell off sharply under the stress of selling pressure and a poor demand for cash corn. Stocks have accumulated for days, and the aggression of the sellers overcame the efforts of the bulls to hold the market. May went down from 68c to 66¼c, July and September falling from 1c to 1¼c. The close was weak at nearly the low point, with May at 66⅜@66½c, 1⅜@1½c below the final figures yesterday.

Trading in the oats pit followed closely the course of corn, the decline being from ⅞c to 1⅜c. Liquidation was a feature of the trade, which was large in volume. With the downward trend had become well established, a number of leading longs joined in the selling. The demand for cash oats was fair, but was inadequate as a support to the falling market. May fell off from 48⅛c to 47@47⅛c. The close was weak at nearly the low point, with May at 47⅛@47¼c, ⅜c lower than the final figures yesterday.

Provisions, under the spur of record prices for live hogs, which today touched $9.47½, the highest point since 1870, advanced early in the day, May pork going up to $23.95, 25c higher than yesterday's close. The other products showed a more moderate early gain. When the backset in wheat set in, provision prices began to sag and fell off to a close unchanged to 5c higher for pork and 2½c to 5c lower than yesterday for lard and ribs. In the downward procession leading longs unloaded, and the buyers were principally small small concerns. Closing figures for the May products were: Pork $23.70; lard $12.80, and ribs $12.45.

COTTON THE PAST WEEK; REVIEW OF THE MARKET

New York, February 18.—The apparent impossibility of inducing the general public to take hold of cotton and the persistence of American spinners in the policy of buying from hand-to-mouth sufficiently account for the decline of roughly $1 to $2 a bale. The greatest weakness has been in this crop. The May premium over July has suffered a sharp setback. It is only about one-fifth what it was recently.

Coincident with local irregularity and weakness in the stock market, Wall street has sold cotton to some extent. New Orleans prices have been noticeably weak at times. The offset in New York has been very apparent. Important Texas operators are said to have been among the sellers. The reports from Texas as to crop preparations have, to say the least, not been of a kind to stimulate prices. Yarns have been dull and more or less depressed.

Some favorable reports in regard to the cotton goods trade are being received from various parts of the country, but there are others of a much less favorable kind. Neither manufacturers or jobbers liked the recent violent fluctuations in prices of raw material. The soil of Texas seems to have been benefited, to some extent, by rains, sleet and snow. The impression increases that the next acreage will be very large. Meantime, the receipts at the ports and the interior towns are small, and the statistical position is in some influential quarters regarded as strong. On declines, Wall street and other houses have bought. General trade is in a favorable condition. Fall River has latterly been more active. The local stock is strongly held, and is steadily decreasing. English supplies are also decreasing rather rapidly. Recently the East India crop estimates have been reduced. Bulls argue that though speculation may be sluggish now and spinners may defer purchases, yet later on the facts of supply and demand will inevitably bring about higher prices. However this may be, the speculative word is, for the moment at least, in a more or less pessimistic mood in regard to cotton and the possibility of advancing the market materially in the immediate future.

Coffee.

New York, February 18.—The market for coffee futures opened quiet at unchanged prices. At first there was practically no business and in the absence of buyers, prices were barely steady under foreign offerings of the late months and some scattering liquidation. Later, however, local trade interests gave the market support, offerings were well absorbed and prices advanced, with buyers encouraged by the steady primary and European markets, recent bullish reports concerning the coming Brazilian crop and the talk of a firm spot situation. Much of the business was reported in the form of switches from March to later positions. The market closed steady, net unchanged to 5 points higher. Sales of 47,000 bags, including March at 6.95@7.00; May at 7.10; July, September, October and December, 7.15.

Futures ranged as follows:

	Opening.	Closing.
January	7.15@7.20	7.15@7.20
February	6.95@7.00	6.95@7.00
